ROLLA, Mo., June 30.—Two candidates for public office in Phelps County in 1936 related today to the Post-Dispatch circumstances under which a contribution of at least $500 for their campaigns was made by Albert C. Laun, former vice-president and ace lobbyist of the Union Electric Co. of Missouri, who assigned recently during an investigation by the Securities and Exchange Commission of the company's business practices and political activities.

The candidates, Eugene E. Northern, then chairman of the Phelps County Republican Central Committee, who was on the ticket for State Representative, and Roy L.
Kirgan, Republican nominee for Sheriff, disagreed as to the amount they received from Laun and as to its expenditure.

However, both said the money was given to them in Laun's office at the Union Electric Co. in St.
Louis when they called there seeking financial assistance for the campaign.

Men Differ on Amounts.
Describing receipt of the contribution, Northern related that Laun reached into the right-hand drawer of his desk and laid two $100 bills on the desk. Northern said he picked them up and later gave one to Kirgan for his campaign expenses, keeping the other to spend in behalf of the Republican ticket, which normally Democratic Phelps County consisted that year only of himself and Kirgan.

Kirgan asserted the amount received by Northern was $500 and said he received only $50 of this year. He added, however, that he spent by him on election day for Northern with the expectation that he, too, would receive some benefit.

The required statements of campaign contributions received and expenditures made, on file at the office of the County Clerk of Phelps County, show that Kirgan spent $278.20 and that Northern's reported expenses were but $63.14. In neither statement did the candidate make any contribution to his campaign fund was made.

From Old Home Town.
Asked about the first step in getting the contribution from Laun, Kirgan, who operates a grocery at nearby St. James, said that Laun had been born and reared there and that he had known him for many years. Having won the Republican nomination for Sheriff, Kirgan said he wished to add strength to the Republican ticket and, since there had been no Republican candidates for State Representative in the primary, arrangements were made by the Republican County Committee to fill the vacancy by naming Northern, popular young Rolla attorney.

"I thought Al might be interested in Northern as a candidate for State Representative," Kirgan explained, "and I called him up late in September, 1936, and made an appointment to bring Northern and talk to Laun in his office in St.
Louis. We went to his office and told him that we thought we could put Northern over, but that it would take about $500.

"Northern got the money there at Al's office in currency, and all I saw of it was $50 he gave me to spend for him hiring automobiles to carry voters to the polls in my part of the county on election day. There wasn't any string attached to the money, but Al said that, as an alumnus of the Missouri School of Mines at Rolla, he would like to have an active Rolla man in the Legislature to see that the school got what was coming to it."

Willing to Go on Ticket.
Northern, who was put on the ticket by the Republican County Committee on Oct. 1, a few days after the successful trip to St.

PENDERGAST GIVEN WORK AS CLERK IN PRISON HOSPITAL

O'Malley Assigned to Power House at Leavenworth as Wiper or Oiler.

WASHINGTON, June 30 (AP).—
A Justice Department official said today Tom Pendergast, former Kansas City political boss, had been assigned to work as a clerk in the Leavenworth prison hospital laboratory.

He said the Leavenworth Classification Committee, which met June 28, assigned both Pendergast and
R. Emmet O'Malley, former State Insurance Superintendent, to "medium custody jobs."

"O'Malley was assigned to light duty in the power house," it was explained. "He asked to be given work there where he could be employed seven days a week. He will probably work as an oiler or wiper."
"Because of his physical condition, Pendergast was assigned to light duty as a clerk in the laboratory of the prison hospital."

Both men are serving sentence for evasions of income tax payments. The official declined to give further details on the job assignments.

MARSEILLE, France, June 30
(AP).—The Dixie Clipper completed today the first scheduled trans-Atlantic flight with paying

The clipper, with 22 passengers and a crew of 11, made the trip and had an elapsed time of 30 hours 29 minutes for the trip from Port Washington.

The 41-ton flying boat flew from

GIRL DANCER LEAPS TO DEATH
WHEN MAN REFUSES TO WED

Breaks From His Grasp and Jumps
Out Window of New York Hotel.

NEW YORK, June 30 (AP).— Eluding the grasp of a man who said he had rejected her pleas of marriage, a girl vainly sought to escape today from the window of the Van Cortlandt Hotel.

She was Eileen O'Connor of Clifton, N. J., known professionally as Bibi Burchard, Alexander Bukosik, 29, who vainly sought to escape, told police she came here about 10 days ago after finishing a dancing engagement in Baltimore.

The girl, he said, sought to renew her acquaintance with him.
Last night, he said, they visited several restaurants and then went to his room where she implored him to marry her. He said he was unemployed and could not assume the responsibility.

Thereupon, Bukosik said, she made a dash for the window. He managed to grab her, he said, but she broke free.

VENOMOUS FISHING LUCK

Vacationist Stung by Scorpion, Then Hooks a Rattlesnake.

GRAND CANYON, Ariz., June 30
(AP).—Two unexpected happenings spoiled J. J. Gregg's fishing trip to Lake Mead, back of Boulder Dam.
Gregg, a foreman at Grand Canyon National Park, first placed his hand on a large scorpion which was sunning itself on a log. Stung by the scorpion, Gregg threw his bass line high up on the bank. There was a tug on his pole and Gregg recovered his composure long enough to reel in—a rattlesnake.

FRANCE PREPARES AGAINST ANY NAZI COUP IN DANZIG

Premier Daladier Confers With British Ambassador and With His Own Envoy to Warsaw.

POLISH CONDITIONS FOR TALKS OUTLINED

Gen. Gamelin Inspects Defenses After Reports of Germans Called to Colors, Italian Moves.

PARIS, June 30 (AP).—Premier Daladier conferred today on the Danzig situation with both British Ambassador Sir Eric Phipps and France's Ambassador to Poland, Leon Noel.

Noel also had a long conference with Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet, to whom he reported on Poland's attitude toward German pressure on the Free City, which forms the main bone of contention between Poland and Germany.

Diplomatic observers considered it significant that both the British and French ambassadors to Warsaw had returned to their home capitals. (Sir Howard William Kennard, the British envoy, reached London late today. He was said to be "on leave.")

Earlier in the day Daladier summoned his Cabinet for a session tomorrow, expected to be devoted to the international situation, which the Premier himself described Tuesday as the gravest in 20 years.

Polish Views Presented.
French diplomatic sources said Noel outlined to Daladier and Bonnet the latest conditions under which Polish leaders had told him they were ready to negotiate with Germany for a peaceful solution of Polish-German issues.

Some diplomats said they understood that tentative discussions already had been started between the two Powers but there was no confirmation of this.

The proposed British-French-Russian pact was said to have been understood to have been the chief subject of the Daladier-Phipps meeting.

Reports reaching diplomatic sources that the Nazis were organizing their forces for a Danzig coup heightened French anxieties.

Reports of Axis Activity.

The nation looked to her defenses
as French diplomatic quarters received reports that Germany had called 600,000 reservists to the colors and that Italian military equipment was shuttling through the Brenner Pass.

Gen. Maurice Gustave Gamelin, head of all French armed forces who probably holds more military power than any French General since Napoleon—was near the Italian frontier inspecting Alpine defenses.

Gen. Joseph Vuillemin, chief of the nation's air forces, was in Corsica studying the defenses of that Mediterranean island, which is an admitted object of Italian affections in Fascist claims for vital space.
Gamelin is to join him there this week end.

Assurances Given to Poland.

Reports that "men and officers of the German army" were moving into Danzig were said to have resulted in a long conference yesterday at which Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet assured Polish Ambassador Julius Lukasiewicz that Britain and France would lend automatic military aid in case of aggression. (The reports of troop movements into Danzig were denied in Germany.)

Italian railway troop cars were said by the Swiss Socialist paper Bernier Tagwacht to be passing continuously over the Brenner Pass into Germany, to be used to transport German troops to Italy in case of war.

National leaders and the press attempted to prepare the public for any eventuality. French commentators called upon the nation to "face the present realities."

Louis Frossard, a member of the Chamber of Deputies, said in his newspaper, Le Justice, he was convinced Britain and France would honor their pledges to give aid to Poland in the event Germany seized Danzig.

It was Frossard who, interrogating Premier Daladier on the foreign situation Tuesday, got the jolt that Europe faced the "gravest crisis in 20 years."

Expect Danzig Senate to Act.
Frossard expressed the conviction of other French leaders that the Danzig Senate of Danzig proposed to declare its attachment to Germany in the near future. If Poland resisted, he said, Germany would have a pretext for "aiding blood brothers against aggression."

Apparently Chancellor Hitler did not intend to wait for the Danzig Senate to act.

BAR ON WORKING WIVES HELD INVALID
IN MASSACHUSETTS

State Supreme Court's Advice to Legislature on Jobs in Public Service.

BOSTON, June 30 (AP).—In an advisory opinion to the Legislature, the Massachusetts Supreme Court held today as unconstitutional the prohibition or restriction of employment of married women in public service.

The ruling gave critics of working wives a major setback in a controversy which has raged in the State for two years. They had indicated they would seek a constitutional amendment in the event of an adverse ruling.

The court's majority opinion held that "married women are not, by reason either of being women or of being married, excluded from citizenship, though before comparatively recent constitutional changes women did not have the political right of voting and of holding public office."

"Women, married or unmarried, are members of the state. Subject only to constitutional limitations, they share with other citizens the duties and privileges of citizenship.
And like other citizens they are entitled to the benefits of the constitutional guarantees against arbitrary discrimination."

his strength, doctors said after they had done all they knew how to do for him.

His father appealed to Ted Williams, Red Sox rookie slugger who is the boy's hero. Williams called and promised to "hit a couple"
for him, then called again to deliver a ball autographed by all the Red Sox stars.

Now Donald's eyes shine in a way that leads the doctors to expect the opinion his chances for recovery have improved.

HOUSE APPROVES COMPROMISE ON BILL FOR RELIEF

Measure Now Carries $53,- 000,000 Less Than Upper Branch Favored—Race Against Time.

SENATE MUST ACT BY MIDNIGHT TONIGHT

It Takes Up Measure After Adams Charges Deliberate Attempt to Delay Action on It.

WASHINGTON, June 30 (AP).
—Racing against time, the House approved a compromise appropriation bill today which would make $1,755,600,000 available for relief during the year starting tomorrow and make numerous changes in the WPA.

Speaker Bankhead announced the standing vote for approval of the bill was 221 to 23.

The Senate took up the bill late today after hearing a charge that there was a "deliberate effort" to delay congressional action on it.

The charge was made by Senator Adams (Dem., Colorado). Calling attention to the fact the House approved the conference report on the legislation about two hours earlier, Adams demanded to know why the Senate could not act on it.

The measure was taken up promptly. There had been reports that the leadership would delay the relief bill until controversial monetary legislation had been enacted,
but Majority Leader Barkley (Dem., Kentucky) said there was no plan to do this.

Unless the Senate completes action on the measure in time for President Roosevelt to sign it before midnight—the end of the confiscation year—stop-gap legislation would be necessary to prevent cessation of relief activities.

The compromise agreed upon by a Senate-House committee last night, would abolish the WPA Federal theater projects, cut $53,000, 000 off the total recommended by the Senate, but increase the House

Changes Agreed On.

House members of the committee recommended the approval of Senate amendments eliminating several relief provisions written in by the House, including one striking out the proposal for a three-man board to administer the WPA instead of the present single administrator.

The House group accepted, likewise, the Senate amendment turning back to the WPA the $125,000, 000 which the House transferred to the Public Works Administration and the amendment requiring local communities to contribute 25 per cent of the cost of all projects started after next Jan. 1.

The compromise version of the bill was worked out by the committee last night but was not made public until today.

Theater Projects Out.

House conferees won a victory
on the Federal theater projects.
They obtained the restoration of an amendment eliminating the theater projects (storm center of controversy during investigations of the WPA. This amendment had been cut out by the Senate.

The House group granted concessions, however, which would permit the retention of the projects' administrative employees on the rolls for 30 days and of actors, actresses and technicians who were on the rolls at the time of the WPA. This amendment had been cut out by the Senate.

F. McElroy, former city manager, in connection with the $356,500 wa-

McElroy, 31, at his home, was represented by John T. Barker and Frank Brockus, his attorneys. Af-

Curran, attending McElroy during his illness of several weeks following an eye operation, said he was in such physical condition his appearance in court would endanger his life, Circuit Judge Ray G.
Cowan agreed to a delay.

Rathford and Pryor's bonds were fixed at $5000, made returnable Sept. 11.

Pryor frequently exhibited anger at the proceedings. He resented the presence of photographers once, asking the judge, "What is this,

ROOSEVELT WARNS AGAINST MONEY
BILL FILIBUSTER

Prophesies at Press Conference That People Won't Be Favorably Inclined Toward Such Step.

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—President Roosevelt conferred with Congressional leaders by telephone more than two hours today, starting at 8:30 a. m., but when he greeted a delayed press conference he was seemingly unperturbed by the tension created by the legislative situation on the administration's monetary and relief bills.

The President used the press session to prophesy that the people of the country would not be favorably inclined toward a Republican filibuster lasting until midnight tonight to kill the bill to extend his authority to devalue the dollar

O'MALLEY BRIBERY INQUIRY NEAR END

Grand Jury Resumes Investigation It Began on June 6.

The grand jury resumed its investigation this afternoon of the $62,500 bribery payment to former State Superintendent of Insurance R. Emmet O'Malley for his official approval of the notorious $10,000,000 fire insurance rate compromise of 1935. It is apparent that the investigation, which has been conducted at intervals since June 6, is nearing completion.

The principal witness before the jury has been A. L. McCormack, St. Louis insurance man, who acted as go-between for the late Charles R. Street of Chicago, lavish fixer for the stock fire insurance companies involved in the compromise. He delivered the pay-off money to Thomas J. Pendergast, former Democratic boss of Missouri, and O'Malley, his hand-picked Superintendent of Insurance. Both are now in Leavenworth penitentiary for Federal income tax evasion. McCormack Adviser Sees Miller.

Homer H. Berger, a Kansas City attorney who has represented the companies, conferred for most of the day yesterday with Circuit Attorney Franklin Miller. He was accompanied by John S. Leahy, St. Louis lawyer.

Berger, who represents all but one of 137 companies whose excess premiums were impounded in Federal Court, entered the grand jury room at the resumption of the inquiry today with Leahy, who represents insurance companies locally. He soon emerged and awaited in an anteroom while Leahy remained before the jurors.

Records of McCormack's safe deposit box where some of O'Malley's money was kept until he called for it, have been examined by the jury. It also has seen registration records of the Coronado hotel which show that O'Malley was staying there at the time he received his bribe.

History of Deal.
In outlining the Government's case against O'Malley, who pleaded guilty, United States District Attorney Maurice M. Milligan, as has been told, gave a circumstantial account of the payments to O'Malley. He said that on May 23, 1935, McCormack tendered O'Malley a down payment of $22,500 at the Coronado Hotel but the insurance superintendent only took $2000 asking McCormack to pay him the rest as needed. McCormack put the money in his safe deposit box at the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. By March 30, 1936 O'Malley had drawn all of it out. The final payment of $40,000, was made to O'Malley at the Coronado Hotel on April 9, 1936, after McCormack had drawn it from the safe deposit box at 3:33 p. m. on that day.

McCormack, as has been told, got a total of $62,500 for his services as go-between. Pendergast received $315,000.

Official Sniffing Committee.
MILWAUKEE, June 30 (AP).—The town of Lake wants to know just how bad an oil refinery smells, because a company wants to spend $80,000 in the town to build one. Town officials decided there was only one way to find out—to send a committee to St. Louis, Mich., where there are refineries, and sniff around.

RUBENS IN SOVIET JAIL, WIFE, FREED, WRITES UP TO SUPREME COURT

Man Taken as Spy Will Be There Long Time, She Says in Letter to Daughter.

MIAMI, Fla., June 30 (AP).—Adolph Arnold Rubens, arrested in Russia 18 months ago as a spy, would be in a Soviet jail "for a long, long time," his wife wrote her family here. The word came from Ruth Marie Rubens, recently released from prison, to her daughter by a former marriage, Ruth Brannan.

"Mother is alone now," Mrs. Rubens wrote. "Nooky (Rubens) won't be with us anymore and I need a helper very much."

She expressed no immediate intention of returning to the United States. She asked that her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boerger, "trust me to manage all my affairs to the best conclusion."

Mrs. Rubens' letter, dated June 16, did not give her husband's whereabouts.

Rubens and his wife were arrested in December, 1937, and held secretly for months. The matter became an international incident. Mrs. Rubens was released three weeks ago after pleading guilty to illegal entry. Her 18 months' detention was taken as punishment.

WISCONSIN KILLER RESEMBLED MATTSON KIDNAPER, IT IS SAID

Federal Agents Reported Checking Activities of Ray Olson Shot Down by Posse.

HAYWARD, Wis., June 30 (AP).—The Federal Bureau of Investigation today was reported checking the possibility that Ray Olson, killer of two deputies who was shot to death yesterday by a posse of woodsmen, was the kidnaper of Charles Mattson of Tacoma, Wash., in 1936.

The 10-year-old Mattson boy was kidnapped Dec. 27, 1936. His body was found two weeks later.

Local officers noticed what they considered a marked resemblance between Olson's pictures and an artist's conception of the appearance of the Mattson kidnaper.

While the Federal agents carried on their investigation, county authorities considered the case of Olson's 20-year-old wife, Dolores, detained at the county jail for two weeks as a material witness.

Man Rescued After Cave-in Dies
INDIANAPOLIS, June 30 (AP).—Howard Jackson, 38 years old, 240-pound plumber rescued from a 20-foot pit cave-in a week ago after being trapped 10 hours, died unexpectedly last night in a hospital.

CITY CIGARETTE TAX UP TO SUPREME COURT

Appeal Filed From Circuit Judge's Ruling Upholding New Levy.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 30.—An appeal from a judgment by which Circuit Judge Harry F. Russell upheld the new St. Louis municipal cigarette tax of 2 cents a package was filed in the Supreme Court of Missouri yesterday by counsel for retail dealers and tobacco manufacturers contesting constitutionality of the tax.

At the same time was filed a motion, in which City Counselor Edgar H. Wayman joined attorneys for the tobacco interests, asking the Court to advance the appeal for hearing in its September term. The motion said the question of validity of the tax was of great public interest and that it was important to the city and the taxpayers that it be settled as soon as possible. The Court probably will act on the motion at its next conference, early in July.

Last Monday Judge Russell sustained the city's demurrer to the suit attacking the tax, brought by the tobacco interests, and ordered dismissal of the suit. The appeal will not stay enforcement of the tax and city officials have prepared to make it effective July 10.

MARKED BUSINESS UPTURN IN EIGHT RESERVE DISTRICT

Bank Report for May Early June Cites Farm, Industrial and Retail Conditions.

May and early June marked improvements in business conditions in the Federal Reserve District, according to the monthly review issued today by the St. Louis Federal Reserve Bank.

Agricultural prospects are reported to be above average. Industrial production well sustained for the operation of influences, and a considerable increase in the distribution of goods, especially at retail, is noted. Chasing has been in such that inventories have been substantially and re-ordering become necessary in some instances to meet demand.

May sales of department stores in the area, which includes Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Arkansas, were 12 and 11 percent greater, respectively, than a year earlier. The cumulative total for the first months of 1939 was 4.8 percent above that of the comparable period.

Retail sales of automobiles in the St. Louis area were greater than in April and May, 1938. The five-month figure was 37 percent above that of a year ago.

Store Sales Dip in City

In St. Louis, department sales during May dipped slightly under the April figure. They were 37.4 percent greater than in May, 1938.

In the industrial field orders are still running ahead of production, it is reported. Production of soft coal was slightly greater than in April, about 8 percent under in May, 1939, output. Increased building materials, especially steel, are noted. Building was cited as the cause of this as well as the increase of furniture.

Seasonal recessions were noted in some divisions of the iron and steel industry, but elsewhere operations were maintained at a steady, slightly better rate. Consumers, however, are avoiding inventory accumulations. Steel ingot production, which was 39 percent under in April and in May, 1938, rose to capacity in the first week of June, declined to 42 percent in the second of the month. A year ago it was 39 percent.

Wholesale Business Rises

With the exception of boots and shoes, wholesale and retail groups reported increases in volume of their sales, the report indicates. Furniture sales were up 46.4 percent in May, 1939, over a year ago. Dry goods figures were 17 percent greater in May, 1939, than in May, 1938, respectively. Boots and shoes showed a decline of 1.9 and 16.2 percent in the figures.

There was a drop of 1.8 percent in the production of clothing in April as compared with May of this year, but the April figure was 3.9 percent greater than in April, and the total for the four months of 1939 was 12 percent in excess of the 1938 total in the comparable month.

Selected consumers in the cities of the area used 4.2 percent more electricity in May, 1939, than in May, 1938.

The dollar value of building permits was 18.4 percent less in the month than in April, 1939, but 10 percent greater than in May, 1938. Actual construction contracts valued at $20,420,000, as compared with $21,069,000 in April and $18,000,000 in May of last year.

Fewer Commercial Failures
Dun and Bradstreet reported commercial failures in the St. Louis area numbered 24, with assets of $221,000, as compared with 32 failures, with liabilities of $500,000, in April and 35 failures, with liabilities of $733,000, in May of last year.

In the main, the planting for spring crops, corn, cotton, soybeans, etc., was favorable while excessive rains delayed work in April and the first of May, there were enough days to accomplish the work since June 1 have been some replanting in lowland areas, large harvests are generally expected.

Farm prices fluctuated in a narrow range in May and remained substantially those prevailing in recent months. Government benefit payments in April were a trifle less than in the comparable month of 1938. The East St. Louis stockyard died more livestock in May, 1939, than in the comparable month of 1938.

Car loadings showed the expected seasonal advance in June 1 than a year ago, 2.3 percent above the 1938 average. The St. Louis Railway interchanged 73,711 tons in May as against 72,911 in April and 72,388 in May of last year. Passenger traffic in May was 6 percent increase in volume revenue when compared with May, 1938, figures.

MARKED BUSINESS UPTURN IN EIGHTH RESERVE DISTRICT

Bank Report for May and Early June Cites Better Farm, Industrial and Retail Conditions.

May and early June brought marked improvements in general business conditions in the Eighth Federal Reserve District, according to the monthly review issued today by the St. Louis Federal Reserve Bank.

Agricultural prospects are reported to be above average, industrial production well sustained except for the operation of seasonal influences, and a considerable increase in the distribution of goods, especially at retail, is noted. Purchasing has been in such volume that inventories have been reduced substantially and re-ordering has become necessary in some instances to meet demand.

May sales of department stores in the area, which includes portions of Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi and Arkansas, were 1.2 and 16.2 per cent greater, respectively, than a month and a year earlier. The cumulative total for the first five months of 1939 was 4.8 per cent above that of the comparable 1938 period.

Retail sales of automobiles in the St. Louis area were greater by 6.5 per cent than in April and 76.2 per cent than in May, 1938. The 1939 five-month figure was 37 per cent above that of a year ago.

Store Sales Dip in City.

In St. Louis, department store sales during May dipped 4.9 per cent under the April figure, but they were 17.4 per cent greater than in May of 1938.

In the industrial field orders and shipments are still running heavier than production, it is reported. The production of soft coal was appreciably greater than in April, but about 8 per cent under the May, 1938, output. Increased sales of building materials, especially electrical supplies, are noted. Home building was cited as the cause of this as well as the increased sales of furniture.

Seasonal recessions were noted in some divisions of the iron and steel industry, but elsewhere operations were maintained at a steady to slightly better rate. Consumers, however, are avoiding inventory accretions. Steel ingot production, which was at 39 per cent of capacity in mid-May, rose to 47 per cent in the first week of June, then declined to 42 per cent in the middle of the month. A year ago the rate was 39 per cent.

Wholesale Business Rise.

With the exception of boots and shoes, wholesale and jobbing groups reported increases in the volume of their sales, the report indicates. Furniture sales were 36.5 per cent and 46.4 per cent greater than a month and a year earlier. Dry goods figures were 17 and 14.7 per cent greater in May than in April and in May, 1938, respectively. Boots and shoes showed a decline of 1.9 and 16.2 per cent in the two figures.

There was a drop of 1.8 per cent in the production of crude oil in April as compared with March of this year, but the April figure was 3.9 per cent greater than a year earlier, and the total for the first four months of 1939 was 120.9 per cent in excess of the 1938 production in the comparable months.

Selected consumers in six large cities of the area used 4.2 per cent more electricity in May than in April, and 15.6 per cent more than in May, 1938.

The dollar value of building permits was 18.4 per cent less during the month than in April, and 7.8 per cent greater than in May, 1938. Actual construction contracts were valued at $20,420,000, as compared with $21,069,000 in April and $17,318,000 in May of last year.

Fewer Commercial Failures.

Dun and Bradstreet reported that commercial failures in the district in May numbered 24, with liabilities of $221,000, as compared with 32 failures, with liabilities of $1,606,000, in April and 35 defaults, with liabilities of $733,000, in May of last year.

In the main, the planting season for spring crops, corn, cotton, vegetables, etc., was favorable, and while excessive rains delayed field work in April and the first half of May, there were enough dry days to accomplish the work. Rains since June 1 have necessitated some replanting in lowlands. However, large harvests are indicated generally.

Farm prices fluctuated within a narrow range in May and June and remained substantially below those prevailing in recent years. Government benefit payments in April were a trifle less than in the comparable month of last year. The East St. Louis stockyards handled more livestock in May than in April, but less than in the same month of 1938.

Car loadings showed more than the expected seasonal advance, having been 2.3 per cent higher than June 1 than a year ago, and 10.1 per cent above the 1938-37 10-year average. The St. Louis Terminal Railway interchanged 79,700 loads in May as against 72,911 in April and 72,388 in May of last year. Passenger traffic in May showed a 6 per cent increase in volume and revenue when compared with the May, 1938, figures.

U. S. CHARGE AGAINST BRICKEY AND PORTER

Indictments Accuse Them of Embezzlement From Festus Bank.

Indictments charging Norville W. Brickey, former Mayor of Festus, and Charles E. Porter, former executive vice-president of the Citizens' Bank of Festus, with embezzlement and making false entries in the bank's books were returned by the Federal grand jury yesterday.

Brickey, former president of the bank, is accused, in two counts, of taking $1311 from the bank and Porter, in four counts, of taking $2246. There are two charges of false entry against Brickey and eight against Porter.

The two men have been at liberty on bond since last December following their arrests after a shortage of $112,600 was discovered at the bank. The maximum penalty on each count in the indictments is five years in prison and a $5000 fine.

Porter readily admitted the shortage when it was uncovered, telling other bank officials he had been covering up discrepancies for 12 years "to shield a friend."

Brickey is accused in one count of the embezzlement indictment with taking $400 from the account of the Festus Special Road District and in the other count with stealing $911 from the road district.

The false entry charges are based on the $400 embezzlement item, on which he is accused of having issued a deposit ticket for another depositor, and on the including of $5000 of worthless bonds of the Festus School District among the bank's assets.

Porter is charged with stealing $1524, $304, $309 and $107 on various dates between May and July, 1938.

SENATOR VAN NUYS GETS HIS FARM, BUT LOSES HIS HEIFERS

Indiana Legislator Achieves Life-Long Ambition in Buying Acreage.

WASHINGTON, June 30 (AP).—Over their coffee cups Washingtonians have been reading this distress note this week in the lost and found sections of their newspapers:

"Strayed—Three registered white-faced heifers, ears tattooed; reward, Call Senator Van Nuys."

The Indiana Senator, much to the surprise of many of his friends and associates, recently realized a boyhood ambition to own and live on a farm. A month ago he bought Moorefield, 120 acres, in the rolling hills west of Fairfax, Va.

The Senator has a son named Billy. Billy wants to be a farmer. Senator Van Nuys was born on a farm near Falmouth, Ind., the son of a country doctor, and he, too, wanted to farm, but somehow he turned out to be a lawyer. By buying a farm now, he decided, he and his son would be agriculturally happy.

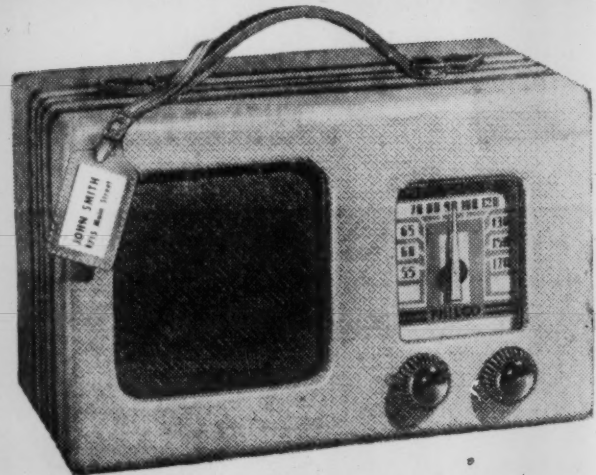

The Senator commutes in his automobile 12 miles to and from the Capitol.

Among the false entry charges against him is one for $53,415 and one for $335.

Brickey, who lives at the Park Plaza Hotel in St. Louis, is also under 10 State charges of embezzlement, grand larceny, and obtaining money by false pretenses growing out of audits which showed discrepancies in the accounts of the road district and the Festus School District. He had been treasurer of the school board.

He was forced to give up these and three other public jobs, all of which had formerly made him boss of Jefferson County and leading citizens of Festus.

$85,000 FOR WPA WORK ESTIMATED TO COST $35,000

Wentzville Sewer Not Finished Yet After Double the Outlay Originally Figured.

A WPA project for sewer system in Wentzville which a private engineering firm estimated could be installed for $35,000 is not completed after nearly two years and the expenditure of more than $85,000. No definite assurance has been given concerning when it will be finished or how much it will cost.

With less than half of the pipes laid, residents of the St. Charles County town of 700, "just a mile square," speculate daily on when they will get their sewers and make full use of a $47,000 water system constructed five years ago with the aid of a PWA grant. At that time consulting engineers retained by the city estimated the water system would cost $45,000 and that a sewer system would cost $35,000. Subsequently, when it was decided to put in a sewage disposal plant and sewer system, Everett Meyer, who acts as city engineer of both Maplewood and Wentzville, estimated that it would cost $63,000. But unexpected rock formations, WPA labor fluctuations and other conditions made the cost mount and it is still mounting. Work started in September, 1937, financed by a $15,000 municipal bond issue—the city's sole contribution—and a Government grant of $48,000. By last December this money was exhausted and a new allotment of approximately $67,000 was granted.

Less Than Half of Pipes Laid. With a crew of 68 men at work, which at times has reached 107, less than half the pipes for the distribution system have been laid. The disposal plant is about four-fifths completed. Citizens must continue to use home septic tanks and ditches as they have done for generations.

Jim K. V. Weir, Mayor of Wentzville in 1936-37, when the sewer was begun, told a Post-Dispatch reporter he thought the delay and expense was primarily "Wentzville's fault."

"There can be no doubt that our city engineer made an error in his estimate by failing to allow for rock formations," Weir said, "and we should all have done more figuring beforehand. I don't think we can blame the WPA."

Meyer, the engineer, observed that the rock formations represented the principal reason that costs far exceeded his estimate. Work report sheets show that 1790 cubic yards of blue limestone have been removed since Dec. 2.

The quality and quantity of labor fluctuate. Some men quit to harvest their corn, and to the job. Sometimes an expert on an air hammer gets sick. Then it is necessary to break in a new man or wait until his return before his job may be done efficiently.

Water System Built. Wentzville first began to share in the Government's bounty in 1934 under the administration of Mayor John A. Nienheuser. It was decided to construct a water system. The firm of Russell & Axon, consulting engineers of 4903 Delmar boulevard, was engaged to make an estimate and also to estimate the cost of a sewer system. The firm estimated the water tank and distribution system could be installed for $45,000 and a complete sewer system for $35,000.

The town decided to go ahead with the water system. It passed a $35,000 bond issue. The Government supplied $12,000 through a PWA grant. In accordance with usual PWA practice skilled labor was used on the job, which cost $2000 more than estimated due to an increase in the price of the tank. It was deemed inexpedient to call immediately for another bond issue for the sewer system so it was deferred until 1937, when the city voted $15,000 and the WPA chipped in its first allotment of $48,000. The city subsequently borrowed money, bought trucks and other equipment used on the job, and, in effect, rented them to the WPA. Wentzville is now criss-crossed with sections of the sewer of the future.

The new scales were reached in agreement with the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel & Tin Workers, affiliated nationally with the CIO.

WITS ROLLERSKATE WEDDING
Duke of Windsor Stands on Dignity.
HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 30 (AP).—The Rev. R. Anderson Jarvis, who married Wallis Warfield Simpson and the Duke of Windsor, canceled plans to officiate at a roller skate wedding last night.
A Hollywood skating rink had anounced the British minister and all members of the wedding party would wear skates during the ceremony, and Jardine confirmed the announcement.

Yesterday he refused to take part on the grounds the ceremony had been misrepresented to him and would be undignified. He has charged he has been denied church employment since he married the abdicated King Edward and the American divorcee.

SIX INDICTED AS MEMBERS OF COLUMBIA (MO.) DOPE RING Five Men and Woman Named in Federal Indictments at Kansas City.
(AP).—A Federal grand jury yesterday returned indictments against five men and a woman in connection with the operations of what Otto Schmid, Assistant United States District Attorney, called a minor narcotics ring at Columbia, Mo.

Roy Reese, alias Frank Brown, alias George Howard, was charged with purchase of narcotics. Floyd L. Holloway, Cleo C. Jacobs, Anna-bell Jacobs, Harry Fite and Prosper Wright were charged with sale of narcotics. They are to be tried at Jefferson City.

In another indictment, Oval R.
Harris, former assistant postmaster at Lebanon, Mo., was charged with making false entries in postoffice records with intent to defraud the Government.

WRIT TO LET NEGROES USE
AMUSEMENT PARK REFUSED
Owner's Petition for Permanent Injunction Against Valley Park Officials Still Pending.
A temporary injunction to restrain Valley Park officials from interfering with the operations of the Lake Hill Amusement Park, for Negroes, was denied yesterday by Circuit Judge Julius R. Nolte at Clayton. The suit of George F.
Reeves Jr., owner of the park, seeking a permanent injunction, is still pending.

Reeves is seeking to prevent the Mayor, Board of Aldermen and Chief of Police of Valley Park from arresting him on a charge of operating the park without a license.
He twice has been fined $100 for opening the park to groups of Negroes. He appealed in both cases.

Herbert G. (Chubby) Baumhoff Indicted, Accused of Using Mails in Auto Mileage Map Scheme

Herbert G. (Chubby) Baumhoff,
former St. Louis promoter, already under indictment in Peoria, Ill., on charges of operating a confidence game, was indicted by the Federal grand jury here yesterday on a mail fraud charge.

Assistant United States Attorney
Herbert H. Freer said Baumhoff obtained about $15,000 by telling "investors" he had contracts with large gasoline companies and travel agencies to buy "indicator maps," devices showing the motor mileage between cities.

The chief investor, Freer said, was Dr. F. G. Pernoud, a physician, who gave Baumhoff $9000 to $10,000.
Dr. Pernoud, who lives at 3615 Utah place, declined to discuss the charge against Baumhoff, saying he would permit events "to take their natural course."

Details of Indictment.
The indictment relates that on Jan. 2, 1934 two men obtained a patent for an indicator map. Baumhoff heard of the patent, made an agreement with the patent holders to pay them royalties on the sales, then formed Moto-Mile Inc., the selling and promoting agency, the indictment states.

He told Dr. Pernoud and others,
it is charged, that large oil companies like the Continental Oil Co., which operates a tourist service,
had agreed to buy the maps. Continental would buy 100,000 at $21 apiece, the indictment says he told his backers.

But Baumhoff frequently needed more money, particularly after the Continental Co. demanded that certain changes be made in the maps before it would fulfill its part of the contract, the indictment continues, adding that "the defendant well knew there was no contract and no maps."

In a letter to Dr. Pernoud Aug.
30, 1937, from New York, Baumhoff wrote: "Again let me say how sorry I am that we must drain your purse alone. I wish that I had it and you could bet your all I wouldn't hesitate to use mine."

Another letter from Baumhoff to Dr. Pernoud Aug. 30, 1937, indicated the physician wanted money for research work. It read in part: "I know that you were thrilled when you got my wire saying I had signed the contract.
We can now plan a future and do
all things necessary to allow you
to carry out your research work."

The letter went on to say that a
New York purchaser had agreed to take 10,000 of the maps at $21.20 each, less 15 per cent commission to an advertising agency.

Loan on House Suggested.
Thirteen of the 24 counts in the indictment are based on letters to
Dr. Pernoud, written between June
2 and Sept. 14, 1937. In one, Baumhoff suggested the physician make
a loan on his house to get more money. In another, the promoter said he needed funds to hire more draftsmen. Having obtained more money on another occasion, Baumhoff wrote: "This loan is sufficient to free the map from Shylock, the manufacturer."

Baumhoff, 45 years old, is a son
of Frederick W. Baumhoff, former
St. Louis Postmaster whose stock
and bond brokerage firm collapsed
in 1927 with a loss to customers of about $175,000.

The State charges against the younger Baumhoff of operating a confidence game also grew out of his map promotion. There were four counts in the indictment voted
by the county grand jury at Peoria
in January, including one of larceny of $5000. He had had a suite of offices in Peoria and operated from there.

He was arrested in Chicago in November and returned to Peoria,
where he was in jail from November to January. While he was in jail, his wife obtained a divorce.

THREE MEN ELECTROCUTED
FOR ATTACKING WOMEN
Two Admit Guilt, Third Protests
Innocence; One Murdered
His Victim.

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark.,
June 30 (AP).—Three young Negroes, two admitting guilt and the other protesting his innocence, died
in the electric chair early today for attacks on two 19-year-old white
women, one of whom was murdered.
The Negroes were Jim X. Caruthers,
23 years old; Bubbles Clayton, 25,
and Sylvester Williams, 20.

Caruthers, confessing for the first
time as he was seated in the chair,
and Clayton, steadfastly denying guilt, were executed for assaulting
a waitress in a Blytheville cemetery Dec. 21, 1934. They made a four-year legal fight for freedom,
which was carried to the United States Supreme Court.

Williams pleaded guilty last
month to attacking and murdering
a farm girl near Altheimer, sinking
her body into a bayou with iron
weights. The victim's mother, sister and four brothers watched his electrocution.

Summer School Registration.
Registration for entrance to the summer session of the St. Louis University School of Nursing opened today at the school office, 1402 South Grand boulevard. Classes will begin Monday and continue through July 29. Fourteen courses are offered.

We can now plan a future and do
all things necessary to allow you
to carry out your research work."

The letter went on to say that a
New York purchaser had agreed
to take 10,000 of the maps at $21.20 each, less 15 per cent commission to an advertising agency.

Loan on House Suggested.
Thirteen of the 24 counts in the indictment are based on letters to
Dr. Pernoud, written between June
2 and Sept. 14, 1937. In one, Baumhoff suggested the physician make
a loan on his house to get more
money. In another, the promoter
said he needed funds to hire more draftsmen. Having obtained more money on another occasion, Baum-
hoff wrote: "This loan is sufficient
to free the map from Shylock, the
manufacturer."

of Frederick W. Baumhoff, former
St. Louis Postmaster whose stock
and bond brokerage firm collapsed
in 1927 with a loss to customers of
about $175,000.

The State charges against the
younger Baumhoff of operating a confidence game also grew out of his map promotion. There were four counts in the indictment voted
by the county grand jury at Peoria
in January, including one of larceny of $5000. He had had a suite
of offices in Peoria and operated
from there.

He was arrested in Chicago in November and returned to Peoria,
where he was in jail from November to January. While he was in jail, his wife obtained a divorce.

FOR ATTACKING WOMEN
Two Admit Guilt, Third Protests
Innocence; One Murdered
His Victim.

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark.,
June 30 (AP).—Three young Negroes, two admitting guilt and the other protesting his innocence, died
in the electric chair early today for
attacks on two 19-year-old white
women, one of whom was murdered.
The Negroes were Jim X. Caruthers,
23 years old; Bubbles Clayton, 25,
and Sylvester Williams, 20.

Caruthers, confessing for the first
time as he was seated in the chair,
and Clayton, steadfastly denying
guilt, were executed for assaulting
a waitress in a Blytheville cemetery Dec. 21, 1934. They made a
four-year legal fight for freedom,
which was carried to the United States Supreme Court.

Williams pleaded guilty last
month to attacking and murdering
a farm girl near Altheimer, sinking
her body into a bayou with iron
weights. The victim's mother, sister and four brothers watched his
electrocution.

SWIMS 48 MILES, GIVES UP Danish Girl Trying for 83-Mile Record Finds Current Too Strong.
COPENHAGEN, June 30 (AP).—
Jenny Kammergaard, 18 years old, gave up her attempt for a swimming record today after covering 48.46 miles in 30 hours and 45 minutes.

She quit because the current was too strong. The Danish girl set out yesterday to swim from Korsor, on the Island of Zealand, to Grenaa, on the Danish Coast, about 83 miles north. Last year she swam the Baltic from Gedser, Denmark, to Nienhagen, Germany, 37 miles, in 40 hours 2 minutes.

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 201-5 Kellogg Bldg.

WASHINGTON, June 30. — Missouri's 21 reporting Federal Credit Unions, with an estimated membership of 4830, possessed assets of $206,294 last Dec. 31 and undivided profits of $10,537, according to a report issued today by the Farm Credit Administration. The Federal Credit Union Act, approved June 26, 1934, authorized the establishment of co-operative associations in groups of 100 or more to promote thrift through installment saving, make useful loans to members at reasonable cost and help members to use their savings and credit effectively.

The Missouri co-operatives, during 1938, it is stated, had a total income of $15,410 and a net profit of $8043. Salary expenses were $2746. A total of $2673 was transferred to reserve to cover possible defaulting loans.

In the whole country there were in existence on Dec. 31 2716 reporting credit unions, with a membership of 624,283, aggregate assets of $29,409,821 and undivided profits of $1,288,393. On Dec. 31, 1934, there were only 39 unions with a membership of 3242. Net earnings in 1938 were at the rate of 6.52 per cent, and for 1937 7.36 per cent.

There are credit unions in every State, in Hawaii and the District of Columbia. Organized primarily for the benefit of farmers, the movement has found its greatest growth in industrial centers. At the close of last year, Pennsylvania had chartered 375 credit unions; New York, 368; California, 299; Ohio, 167; Connecticut, 143; New Jersey, 141; Indiana, 116; and Illinois 89. Among agricultural states, Kansas had 16 unions; Iowa, 4; Wisconsin, 1; South Dakota, 16; and Kentucky, 5.

ST. JOHNS, Mich., June 30 (AP). — Daniel Kent, 32-year-old paroled convict, pleaded guilty today of the murder of George G. Hall, Detroit oil promoter, and was sentenced to life imprisonment by Circuit Judge Kelly S. Searl.

Previously, at a hearing before Justice W. J. Black, repudiated his original confession of killing the man who gave him a ride in an automobile. He declares that when the car stopped to pick him up on a road near Grand Rapids a week ago, Hall was dead in the automobile beside Miss Ruby Doty. The statement brought a chorus of boos from a packed courtroom.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 30 (AP). — A transport plane settled for a landing. As the big ship came into the runway, a pheasant, her brood of 10 trailing behind her, started across the concrete. Capt. W. J. McDonough, 50 feet above, gunned his motors and gave the mother bird the right-of-way.

PROPOSED BICYCLE ORDINANCE DRAFTED

Comprehensive Law, to Include Present Regulations, Prepared by Safety Council.

A comprehensive bicycle ordinance, which will include the few regulations imposed on riders by existing ordinances, is being prepared by the St. Louis Safety Council for submission to the Board of Aldermen.

The proposed ordinance would require owners to pay a registration and license fee and would prohibit riding on sidewalks, clinging to moving vehicles and riding on handlebars.

Riders would be required to observe all motorists' traffic rules, including use of hand signals when making turns; to have lights, reflectors and signaling devices, and to keep to the right on streets and ride in single file. Vehicles of violators would be impounded, and could be recovered only by parents showing that in 1938 there was one or guardians. Need for the ordinance is set forth in a Safety Council report, pedestrians and automobiles.

FRANCE PREPARES AGAINST ANY NAZI COUP IN DANZIG

not believe Poland would resist, he added, or that if Poland did, Hitler counted on British and France bringing pressure on Poland to seek a local settlement with Germany. "Is Hitler mistaken?" he asked. "I am convinced he is."

French observers on the Rhine-land frontier reported increased German troop activities behind the Siegfried line system of forts opposite France's Maginot line, including the arrival of troops at Kehl, Karlsruhe, Rastatt, Saizbach and Baden.

French diplomatic efforts were increased to get Russian participation in the British-French front with which to confront Italy and Germany.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax's sharp warning to Germany yesterday was hailed by the French press, but some commentators were displeased by offers to discuss the colonial question.

Foreign Enlistment Permitted.

France opened the enlistment rolls of her armed forces to foreigners resident in France who want to pledge during peace time that they will fight "for the duration of war" if one comes.

Publication of a decree in the official journal permitted foreigners to enlist under those terms.

Foreigners may now pledge service in official war ministry offices. They may be called on to serve a three-month training period if the War Ministry considers it necessary.

THE JURISDICTIONAL DISPUTE BETWEEN THE INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF MACHINISTS AND THE UNITED BROTHERHOOD OF CARPENTERS AND JOINERS OVER THE ERECTION OF MACHINERY, CAUSE OF THE PRESENT STRIKE OF CARPENTERS, MILLWRIGHTS AND CABINETMAKERS AT ANHEUSER-BUSCH BREWERY, HAS BEEN RAGING IN THE COUNCILS OF THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR FOR 26 YEARS, FEDERATION RECORDS DISCLOSE.

So bitter is the dispute that William Green, A. F. of L. president, when appealed to by the brewery after the strike order was issued, replied that he had exhausted all efforts toward settlement and regretted that he lacked authority to do more.

The brewery management announced today it was hiring non-union workmen with a view of resuming maintenance and construction work.

As long ago as November, 1912, at the thirty-third annual convention of the A. F. of L. at Seattle, Wash., action was taken by the convention on a complaint by the International Association of Machinists that other A. F. of L. organizations were claiming jurisdiction over the erection and installation of machinery which the machinists had refused to install because of alleged unfair conditions. The convention requested the other labor groups to discontinue the practice.

At Annual Conventions.

The dispute bobbed up again at the next annual convention at Philadelphia, and this time became a direct issue between the machinists and the carpenters' organizations, which, the machinists charged, "is attempting to do this work and taking advantage of every opportunity to place the members of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners on same."

The convention concurred in a resolution which resolved "That the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners be instructed to discontinue the infringement complained of."

Despite the Philadelphia convention action it was reported at the 1915 meeting of the A. F. of L. at San Francisco that millwrights had erected machinery for the Panama Pacific Exposition. The committee on adjustment found that the carpenters not only failed to heed the Philadelphia resolution but had extended their jurisdictional claims. The committee's report recommended suspension for the carpenters unless they observed jurisdictional boundaries.

More Peace Efforts.

Instead of suspending the carpenters the convention commissioned a committee of five, headed by A. F. of L. President Sam Gompers, with instructions to endeavor to persuade the carpenters from encroachment in the fields of their labor brethren. The warring factions were brought into conference during the next A. F. of L. convention at Baltimore, where it was agreed that each union appoint a subcommittee to carry on the negotiations and report at the 1917 convention at Buffalo, N. Y.

During the time between conventions there was a jurisdictional dispute between the machinists and carpenters in Chicago, and members of the two unions nearly came to blows in a squabble over work on a Government contract. Oil was poured on the troubled waters at Buffalo, where the two international associations agreed to refer local disputes to International Presidents William L. Hutcheson of the Carpenters and William H. Johnston of the Machinists pending final adjustment by the subcommittees.

The peace efforts dragged on until the fifty-second annual convention at Cincinnati in November, 1932. The A. F. of L. executive council announced it was "pleased to report" that an agreement had been reached between the carpenters and machinists which it was hoped would prove to be a settlement of the long-standing jurisdictional row.

Under the agreement between the two unions the carpenters were awarded jurisdiction over the construction of "line shafting, pulleys and hangers, spout and chutes, conveyors, lifts and hoists, except that type of conveyor that is an integral part of the machine." Machinists were given jurisdiction over "the building, assembling, erecting, dismantling and repairing of machinery in machine shops, buildings, factories or elsewhere where machinery is used."

Agreement Annulled.

Peace appeared to be in sight but a resolution by the Building Trades Department of the A. F. of L. challenging the authority of the Executive Council to approve the agreement and asserting autonomy governing all matters of trade jurisdiction in the building industry upset the work of years. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Executive Council Report in an effort to adjudicate the differences.

In April, 1933, the carpenters' international office notified President Green of the A. F. of L. that it was annulling the agreement with the machinists. The machinists expressed regret at the action but the peace overtures were not resumed.

In 1938 the dispute again came to a head over work in St. Louis breweries. The local carpenters and machinists organizations entered into a truce, dividing the work. The truce ended last August.

Boilermakers and hodcarriers have made sympathetic demonstrations on the side of the carpenters, while the Anheuser-Busch management contends it is the victim of circumstances over which it has no control.

France opened the enlistment rolls of her armed forces to foreigners resident in France who want to pledge during peace time that they will fight "for the duration of war" if one comes.

Publication of a decree in the official journal permitted foreigners to enlist under those terms.

Foreigners may now pledge service in official war ministry offices. They may be called on to serve a three-month training period if the War Ministry considers it necessary.

WRIT BARS REMOVAL OF PLANE FROM CHOICE SPOT AT AIRPORT

Sightseeing Ship's Operator Gets Temporary Court Order Keeping Plane in Front of Hangar.
William E. Robertson, head of the Robertson Aircraft Corporation and Robertson Airplane Service Co., Lambert-St. Louis Field, was restrained from removing Ray Harris, sightseeing plane operator, from a choice spot in front of the Robertson hangar July 1, under a temporary order issued at Clayton yesterday by Circuit Judge Peter T. Barrett. Robertson was ordered to show cause July 13 why an injunction, requested by Harris in a suit, should not be issued.

Notices were sent out June 1 by the Robertson Aircraft Corporation requesting three sightseeing plane operators, Harris, Orville Scott and Carl Hempel, to vacate the places their planes have occupied in front of the Robertson hangar. The three pilots are tenants of the Robertson corporation, which leases its hangar from the city.

Robertson recently told the Post-Dispatch the notices to vacate

SUITS FOR PERMITS TO BUILD ADDITIONS TO TWO MARKETS

Two Plaintiffs Charge Building Commissioner Approved Projects, But Changed His Mind.
Mandamus suits to compel Building Commissioner Charles A. Welsh to issue permits for additions to two Thirty-ninth street markets were filed yesterday in Circuit Court.

Plaintiffs were Ben Kaplan and George Garber, Thirty-ninth and Lafayette avenue, and Morris L. Flotken, 1803 South Thirty-ninth. Each petition said Welsh had approved the application, but changed his mind. The additions, explained Edward K. Schwartz, attorney in both cases, were permanent shelters which the grocers had planned to supplant temporary canopies over outside displays.

When we returned, Mr. Laun reached in the right drawer of his desk and laid out two $100 bills. I picked them up and later gave one of them to Kirgan and kept the other as chairman of the County Central Committee to defray expenses of the election. I couldn't be mistaken about the amount Mr. Laun contributed and I can't understand where Kirgan got the idea it was $500."

Can't Recall Name.
Northern said he could not recall the name of the loan company or that of the man to whom they had been sent. Later, at Rolla, he said, a man whose name he did not know, identified himself as the representative of a small loan company doing business in Phelps County and asked for some of his cards. The stranger said he would solicit votes among the company's borrowers in the county.

Both Northern and Kirgan said they had given a full account of the matter to SEC investigators who questioned them at Rolla. Northern also went to Washington and gave testimony last April 26, supplementing his statement made at Rolla, he said.

It was disclosed by Northern that the Union Electric Co. has been busy following the trail of the SEC investigators. Last March 30, he said, attorneys for the company took statements from him and Kirgan as to what they had told the SEC agents. Laun, former President Louis H. Egan and former Executive Vice-President Frank J. Boehm, all of whom resigned at the same time, still are in the employ of the company, at their old salaries, occupying themselves in assisting with defense of the company before the SEC. Their salaries are being paid from corporate earnings.

How the Election Went.
Both Kirgan and Northern ran far ahead of their tickets. In fact, Kirgan was declared elected Sheriff by a vote of 3677 to 3654 when the ballots first were counted. A recount, which is being contested, showed he lost by a vote of 3532 to 3432. Northern was defeated for Representative by Daily, 4062 to 3271, a margin of 791 votes. The county, however, returned 4658 votes for Roosevelt and 2690 for Laundon.

Kirgan agreed to drop legal action against his Democratic opponent, Sheriff Fred C. King, who took office after the recount, under the terms of an agreement of which he was to be employed as a deputy sheriff at $150 a month. After receiving one month's salary, he said, King refused to pay him, and he brought suit against the Sheriff and four others who had signed the agreement with him. The suit is pending in Circuit Court at Springfield, where it was taken on a change of venue.

St. Charles Campaign Case.
Suit asking that the corporate charter of the Union Electric Co. be forfeited for violation of the Missouri corrupt practices act was filed in Circuit Court at St. Charles by Prosecuting Attorney David A. Dyer after the Post-Dispatch disclosed that the company had contributed to campaign funds of candidates in St. Charles municipal elections, who were opposed to municipal ownership proposals and had placed a propaganda writer for the company in the county in a reporter, on the staff of the St. Charles Cosmos-Monitor.

The Corrupt Practices Act makes it unlawful for a corporation to contribute directly or indirectly to individual or party campaign funds in any election. The penalty may extend to forfeiture of the company's charter and injunctive processes against its doing business in the State.

Union Electric Co. of Missouri is a subsidiary of North American Co., a registered holding company under jurisdiction of the SEC.

TWO CANDIDATES SAY LOBBYIST LAUN GAVE THEM MONEY

Louis for financial assistance, said he had not seen Laun before Kirgan took him to Laun's office.

"I went there to help Kirgan out," Northern said. "We thought there was a pretty good chance to elect him because there was a split in the Democratic party on Sheriff. I felt there was no chance of the Republican party electing any other candidate but I was willing to go on the ticket if it would help Kirgan."

"Mr. Laun asked Kirgan how much he thought it would take to put us over and Kirgan told him $500. Mr. Laun remarked that he would like to see me elected because he didn't want to see Mr. Daily (State Representative John J. Daily, Democrat) returned to the Democratic party. There were some other interests in St. Louis that also might help finance my campaign and he gave us a card upon which he wrote the name of a man at a finance company and sent us there to talk to him. The man, whose name I do not remember, was not in and we returned to the Union Electric office."

When we returned, Mr. Laun reached in the right drawer of his desk and laid out two $100 bills. I picked them up and later gave one of them to Kirgan and kept the other as chairman of the County Central Committee to defray expenses of the election. MAIL FRAUD CASE AGAINST BUCKNER GOES TO THE JURY

Deliberations Begin Promoter and Fourers Charged With Manipulation Plot.

NEW YORK, June 30 (AP)—The case against William P. Buckner Jr., a promoter, and four others charged with mail fraud in connection with the alleged manipulation of the Philippine Railway bonds, went to a United States Circuit jury of nine men and women at 2 p. m. today.

Buckner was jolted out of complacency as his own counsel called him an impulsive young man and the Government prosecutor told him "a callous young man."

For the first time since the co-defendants went on June 14, Buckner looked as if he might be a witness. Assistant United States Attorney pointed a finger at him during summation and said: "The Government's description of Buckner is this—a disbarred lawyer, a callous young renegade, a charming personality whose shady trades was the way he made his money as he showed in his pockets."

Look of Embarrassment.
Buckner looked embayed when his counsel, John J. summing up, referred to him as an impulsive young man... probably all swelled up with importance because he was chairman of the Philippine bondholders' protective committee which sought the redemption of the bonds.

Maloney did not spare Buckner, fellow defendants who are like him, of dissipating raised by the committee to the plans to redeem the bonds.

The prosecutor, speaking in sarcasm, told the jury the attorneys had described the case as follows: Buckner—"a 'bottle boy'"; William J. G. Quencamino, Philippine lawyer—"an honest lawyer"; C. Turner, broker—"the mill-plunger"; and Capt. John Hyde, former British army and movie producer—"the man."

Other Defense Arguments.
Defending Buckner, his counsel took up the accusation that Buckner had dissipated funds of the committee by giving gay parties for Broadway showgirls whom afterward took to Washington "a beauty lobby."

"The only possible function of the committee was to persuade Governments (both the American and the Philippine) to do the thing by the bondholders," said.

"I don't know whether he had alone and unsolicited storm Congress and get the thing through. He said he had had that idea. At that time he got one cent from bondholder, he put his hand in his pocket and got money for his family and started out his job."

"Word 'Lobby' Not Sinit."
"The word 'lobby,'" said, "has no sinister meaning. It is unfortunate that in a certain country we have to fight."

Buckner drank some liquor, ran around with some chorus girls, he was also not sincere forming his duty? Can you that a salesman who on of singles his accounts with his employers and maybe a few dollars of his money, should be sent to the penitentiary?"

Minton declared there was a shred of evidence that he made anything out of the case.

"Buckner was broke when arrested," he said. "This was a gamble. If it went through, they were to make money, of course."

WASHINGTON, June 30 (AP)—The Standard Congressional Record had an exclusive story today on one of the session's developments—the compromise of the 755,600,000 relief bill.

The compromise was reached closed meeting of a joint once committee last night. Committee members refused to the compromise afterward reporters they had pledged selves to secrecy.

Today several conferees are shying by the pledge. It is discovered that the entire promise, down to the last cent, went to the Government printing office last night and printed in today's record.

MAIL FRAUD CASE AGAINST BUCKNER GOES TO THE JURY

Deliberations Begin as to Promoter and Four Others Charged With Bond Manipulation Plot.

NEW YORK, June 30 (AP).—The case against William P. Buckner Jr., a promoter, and four co-defendants charged with conspiracy and mail fraud in connection with the alleged manipulation of defaulted Philippine Railway bonds, went to a United States District Court jury of nine men and three women at 2 p. m. today.

Buckner was joined out of his reluctance as his own lawyer called him an "impulsive fool" and the Government prosecutor labeled him "a callous young renegade."

For the first time since he and his co-defendants went on trial June 14, Buckner looked worried as William P. Maloney, Assistant United States Attorney, pointed a finger at him during his summation and said:

"The Government's description of Buckner is this—a disbarred lawyer, a callous young renegade with a charming personality whose chief aim in trade was the smile he gave on his victims as he dipped in their pockets."

Look of Embarrassment. Buckner looked embarrassed when his counsel, John Minton, summing up, referred to him as "an impulsive young man... who was probably all swelled up with importance" because he was chosen chairman of the Philippine Railway bondholders' protective committee which sought the redemption of defaulted bonds.

Maloney did not spare Buckner's fellow defendants who are accused, like him, of dissipating funds raised by the committee to further the plans to redeem the bonds. The prosecutor, speaking with sarcasm, told the jury the defense attorneys had described their clients as follows: Buckner—"an innocent playboy"; William J. Gillespie, broker—"the bottle boy"; Felipe Quencamino, Philippine legislator—"an honest lawyer"; C. Wesley Turner, broker—"the millionaire plunger"; and Capt. John Stuart Hyde, former British army officer and movie producer—"the gentleman."

Other Defense Arguments. Defending Buckner, his counsel took up the accusation that Buckner had dissipated funds of the committee by giving gay parties for Broadway showgirls whom he afterward took to Washington as "a beauty lobby."

"The only possible function of the committee was to persuade these Governments (both the American and the Philippine) to do the right thing by the bondholders," Minton said.

"Buckner was given carte blanche the committee to go out and get for the bonds ($350 for the $1000 par value bonds) which were selling on the market at the time at about 12."

"I don't know whether he thought that he alone and unaided could storm Congress and get this legislation put through. He seems to have had that idea. At any rate, before he got one cent from any bondholder, he put his hands in his own pockets and started out to do his job."

"Word Lobby" Not Sinister. The word "lobby" said Minton, "has no sinister meaning, of course. It's unfortunate that in a democratic country we have to have lobbies. Can you say that because Buckner drank some liquor and ran around with some chorus girls that he was also not sincerely performing his duty? Can you say that a salesman who on occasion mingles his accounts with those of his employers and maybe spends a few dollars of his employers' money, should be sent to the penitentiary?"

Minton declared there was "not a shred of evidence that Buckner made anything out of these bonds."

"Buckner was broke when he was arrested," he said. "This whole deal was a gamble. If the deal went through, they were going to make money, of course."

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH CRAWFORD COUNTY CONSIDERS TWO FOR LONDE BONDSMEN

St. Louis Men Permitted to Sign Subject to Investigation in Cuba Bombing Case.

Crawford County (Mo.) authorities were investigating today the qualifications of two more St. Louis bondsmen who offered yesterday to sign a $25,000 bond for the release of Isidore Londe, convicted St. Louis bomber, held on a charge of bombing at Cuba, Mo.

The two permitted to sign the bond, subject to investigation, were Joseph B. Neu, 3955A Wilmington avenue, and Bernard Hewey, 1616 South Jefferson avenue. They went to Steelville with Londe's wife and another bondsman named McLarkey, whose qualifications were rejected immediately. If Neu's and Hewey's qualifications are approved by Sheriff Chris Enke, they will be accepted as sureties along with four other men who offered to sign the bond last week but were rejected.

Londe, then at liberty on an appeal bond from his conviction and 25-year sentence for a St. Louis bombing, was arrested for the bombing June 7 of a nonunion factory at Cuba. He is in jail at Cuba.

Illinois Coal Board Election. WASHINGTON, June 30 (AP).—The Bituminous Coal Commission approved yesterday election of producer members of the Bituminous Coal Producers' Board for Illinois. The district coal boards are empowered to make original determinations of production costs and recommend minimum prices for sale of coal at the mines, and perform other acts in administration of the Guffey Act. The producer members of the Illinois board are C. J. Sandoe, Perry Coal Co. of St. Louis, and E. L. Carr, Belle & Zoller Coal and Mining Co., Chicago.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH EVANGELIST IN MORALS TRIAL TELLS OF POWDER IN WHISKY

Says in Los Angeles Case That It Went to His Head, Broke Resistance Powers.

LOS ANGELES, June 30 (AP).—Evangelist Joseph Jeffers continued today to say "no" to prosecution questions accusing him of morals violations. The minister, who yesterday agreed with his wife, Zella, that they were under the influence of some white powder placed in whisky, testified he had only hazy recollections of his actions before a raid on their apartment by District Attorney's investigators.

Jeffers said the powder was placed in drinks by Vincent Higgins, detective posing at the time as Vincent Casey, a screen writer. "It went to my head and felt like I have felt in dreams," Jeffers said. "I did not seem to have any power to resist anything—everything Casey (Higgins) said to do, I did."

The prosecution alleges the evangelist and his wife engaged in nude acts in the bedroom while Higgins and a beauty shop operator, Marguerite Morgan, were present.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH BENEFIT ASSESSMENT ALONG RELIEF HIGHWAY OPPOSED

against owners of property adjoining the proposed traffic relief highway along the abandoned Rock Island right of way, has been made by Baxter L. Brown, president of the Board of Public Service, to the City Condemnation Commission. Brown said he made the recommendation because private property along the route would not be directly accessible to the highway. No benefit assessments were made in connection with the construction of the Express Highway for the same reason.

The proposed highway will extend from De Baliviere avenue to the city limits, several hundred feet west of Skinner boulevard. University City is planning to condemn the western portion of the right-of-way for a continuation of the highway.

JUNE ABOVE NORMAL IN HEAT, BELOW IN RAIN

However, Whenever Temperature Rose, Clouds or Down-pour Brought Relief.

Telephone callers frequently advise the forecaster to resign when the weather gets hot and sticky, but St. Louisans have been so pleased with the temperatures this month that some even stopped Meteorologist Walter J. Moxom on the street and offered congratulations. He told a Post-Dispatch reporter today.

It's not exactly summer-weather, he conceded, but it's still better than Chicago, Cincinnati and a few other cities around here have been getting in the last few days. And the temperature hasn't gone over 94 all month. Of course, July and August are usually hotter, so 94 probably would not be the hottest of the summer, he added.

The figure for the mean temperature for the month was somewhat of a surprise, he said. It was 76.1, or 11 degrees above normal. Another surprise came when the statistics showed that in spite of frequent showers all month, the total rain was more than a half inch below normal. There was enough rain, however, to keep grass green and fields looking healthy.

In the whole month there were only four days when the temperature went over 90. But whenever the heat became too unpleasant, clouds or rain brought relief. Clouds came so often, as a matter of fact, that there were only half as many clear days as normal, five instead of 10.

Leaning far back in a swivel chair in his cool, tenth-floor office in the Federal Building, Moxom declared the city's reputation as a national hot spot was unwarranted. He thought, convention delegates who came here in summer months and were uncomfortable, then went home and complained about St. Louis heat, were responsible for the city's reputation.

"No matter what inland city they went to in the summer, they'd be uncomfortable away from home," he asserted. "Summer conventions ought to be abolished."

Returning to the more pleasant theme of the satisfactory June weather, he pointed out that thunderstorms occurred on 10 days, two above normal, which helped relieve the heat. Although this June was hotter than last, it was a full six degrees cooler than the record June of 1934. And the 94-degree heat June 18 was 10 degrees below the record.

LEADER SAYS NEGROES WOULD SUPPORT ROOSEVELT IN 1940

Walter White Asserts Association for Advancement of Colored People Won't Back a Reactionary.

RICHMOND, Va., June 30 (AP).—Walter White of New York, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, predicted that should President Roosevelt seek a third term "he undoubtedly would have the support of the Negroes."

White, attending the annual conference of the association, said last night that while his organization was non-partisan it would urge its members to support the "most intelligent, most liberal and most upright man, regardless of his party" and added "we certainly will not vote for any reactionary."

SCHOOL FOR LION TAMERS

Clyde Beatty to Train 10 Students to Fill "Crying Need."

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 30 (AP).—Clyde Beatty, the wild animal trainer, reported today that the circus business hasn't been very good the last two summers, but announced he's going to conduct a "lion tamer's school" here this summer.

Beatty said there was a "crying need" for good lion tamers in the world, and he's going to begin training 10 students next Friday. Each must pay $100 down, $50 at the end of three weeks, and another $50 at the end of the semester, if he lasts that long.

Bob Pastor Next?

NEW YORK, June 30 (AP).—While New York is still bling delightedly at the thrill given them by the animated beer barrel, Joe Louis, in all but wrestling from Joe Louis, professing ing circles are busy at for Joe Louis' next title round, Lou Nova, who battered Baer into a technical feat, apparently has been tracked. Bob Pastor, cycle king, who once away from Joe Louis rounds, is now getting consideration.

Detroit is after the fight that may be the September 1st fight on the altar of the lion.

This writer talked with Johnston, who assists Johnston in handling affairs. He said yesterday the bout was not yet in the making.

Attractive opponents are still scarce, with Lou Nova seeming the best of the lot. Neither can attract a gal portions to compare with lents total, disappointing probably was to the pro.

Nova is too green and already has been beaten younger and less confident. A return match between would depend on Louis' town enthusiasm to at gate of championship tions.

Louis' Reputation Dwined

DESPITE THE FACT that he proved he could take as well as give punishment, Joe Louis' stock has dwindled. While multitude got a big thrill Galento's gallant charges the titleholder, the most still figures that he could have made such a against a really out champion.

Fans are still gossiping the terrific wallop and courage of the bulbous sey barkeeper. The now prevails that the heavyweight title situation has been improved because demonstrated that Joe is super-fighter he was with being.

This writer still believes Louis was proved as before in this fight, even he still showed he is a hard blow to the jaw.

Couldn't Go the Route

IF ANYTHING COULD to lessen the merit of victory, it was the report examining physicians just the fight. They found lents had a blood pressure as compared with Louis'.

An athlete with figures, lents can't expect to exceed the limit, as Tony Galento heaved his gloves at 75 times to Louis' 123, with guard to whether they missed or what power was any of them.

By rounds the blows were checked as follows: One—Louis, 23; Galento, 20. Two—Louis, 40; Galento, 35. Three—Louis, 25; Galento, 20. Four—Louis, 35; Galento, 20. The count showed Louis 83 rights and 40 lefts, while lents tried 53 lefts and 25 rights. Well, that doesn't tell because unless you saw you don't get the picture of Louis' blows were stabs to get Tony off or upset his rushes.

In a battle of blood

give us the 122—and Joe

Blow by Blow.

HOW MANY PUNCHES it take to win a title fight, as the requirements fit in his battle with Galento, 12 number.

The fight lasted 11½ minutes—689 seconds exact. That is slightly more one punch every 5½ seconds.

Count was kept by a 12 of all blows struck, as they could be followed, lents heaved his gloves at 75 times to Louis' 123, with guard to whether they missed or what power was any of them.

By rounds the blows were checked as follows: One—Louis, 23; Galento, 20. Two—Louis, 40; Galento, 35. Three—Louis, 25; Galento, 20. Four—Louis, 35; Galento, 20. The count showed Louis 83 rights and 40 lefts, while lents tried 53 lefts and 25 rights. Well, that doesn't tell because unless you saw you don't get the picture of Louis' blows were stabs to get Tony off or upset his rushes.

SCHOOL TEACHER SMITH WINS ANOTHER WIMBLEDON MATCH

CALIFORNIAN BECOMES DOL OF THE CROWD

British Fans Like His Style — Reaches Quarterfinals by Defeating Emil Gabory of Hungary.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 30 (AP).—Gene Smith, Berkeley (Cal.) school teacher, led the American team into the quarterfinals of the all-England tennis championships today with a 6-0, 6-4, 6-3 victory over Emil Gabory of Hungary.

Smith served and volleyed like a champion. He blasted Gabory off the court in the first set, losing only 12 points. Gabory broke the Californian's service in the second and third games of the second to lead 3-0, but Smith steadied and won the set with a series of perfect volleys.

Before Smith gave his fine display of tennis, Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabian, of Cambridge, Mass., earned her fourth round brackets by eliminating Miss D. A. Huntbach of Great Britain, 6-2, 6-3, in the only other singles match of the day in which Americans played.

Smith is "Sight Seeing." Smith was one of the thousands of "Smiths in Greater London" when the tourney started Monday. He entered the fourth round yesterday by knocking off Franz Cejnar, stolid Bohemian, to become the darling of the galleries, and with Bobby Riggs and Elwood Cooke, one of the United States hopes.

The fact he is a dyed-in-the-wool amateur helps, too. By now everyone here knows he graduated from California, lives in Berkeley, teaches in Piedmont, has his master's degree, and is over here to see the sights, study a little and play some tennis. The British like that. It's sporting.

No one knows how his studying and sightseeing are progressing, but he certainly is playing "some" tennis. He reminds veteran followers of Big Bill Tilden with his bent-kneed swaying swing on service and the way he lurches the ball generally. Everyone agrees he is the most severe hitter here.

Smith smiles and says: "Gosh, I hope I can stay in this tournament, I sure like it out here." He is such a friendly, appealing gent that everyone hopes so. Britishers put a little extra bite in their "dashed good match, old boy" and when Smith cringes they chuckle delightedly.

Of the three Americans left, he is decidedly the outsider, but there is plenty in his favor. For one thing, he does not "dog it" as Riggs does. He is in there hitting and playing his lanky frame into a state of coma every minute.

Cooke to Meet Austin. Cooke meets Bunny Austin tomorrow and he's liable to beat Bunny, who looked none too good before J. Drobny of Bohemia and Moravia defaulted to him. Cooke is hitting the ball with plenty of zip and he has a sure regard for his own ability. He is cocky in a nice way and will be the only one not surprised if he wins.

Riggs had his perpetual smile and his patient leather hair on court No. 1 yesterday against Camille Malfroy of New Zealand, and that's about all. He made careless errors that would disgrace a schoolboy and played with the inspiration and spirit of a two-day-old dish of pudding.

Bobby is still the best American bet to win, but Cooke, who scrambles, and Smith, who gallops around and yells, "Gosh, I didn't see that one; can't he hit them, though?" are the crowds' favorites.

RIGGS AND COOKE DEFEAT BRITONS; HENKEL ADVANCES

WIMBLEDON, June 30 (AP).—Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabian, petite Cambridge (Mass.) girl, entered the fourth round of the women's singles of the all-England tennis championships today with a 6-2, 6-3 defeat of Miss D. A. Huntbach of Great Britain.

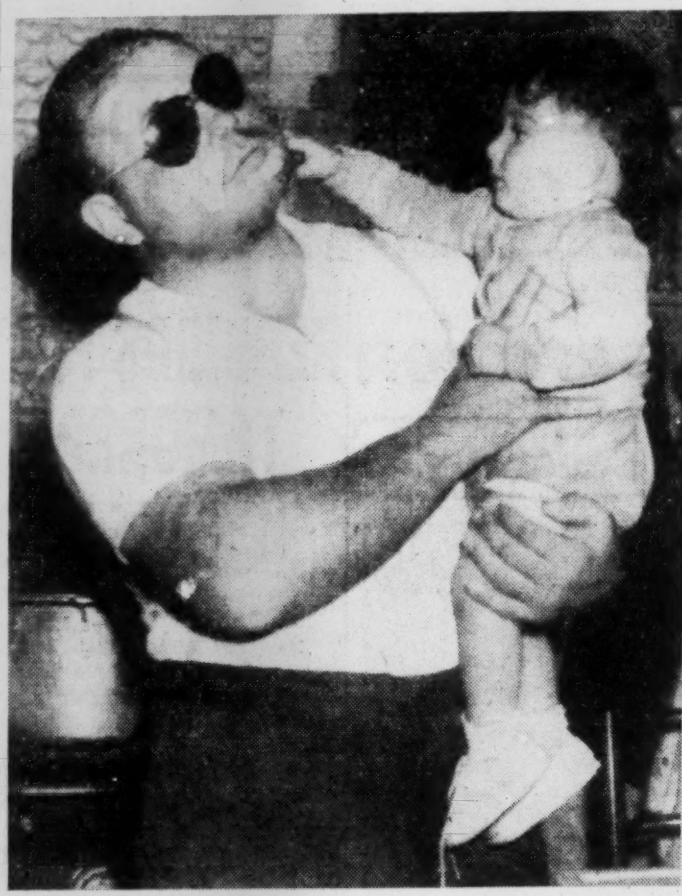

As usual, Mrs. Fabian played copy book tennis and though her English opponent started the match with a love game, she never really had a chance against the American girl's steady game.

Henner Henkel of Germany, seeded fifth, moved into the quarterfinal round of the men's competition by defeating Jacques Brugnon, French veteran, 6-1, 6-2, 6-0. Bobby Riggs of Chicago and Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore., already in the fourth round of the singles, moved ahead in the doubles competition by trimming C. F. and F. G. Hill of Great Britain, 6-2, 6-1, 6-3.

Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Cal., teamed with Billy Yorke of England to justify their No. 2 seeding in the women's doubles. They defeated Lady D. Bouverie and Mrs. D. C. Shepherd-Barron of England, 6-2, 6-3.

Two other seeded players, Mrs. Hilda Krahwinkel Sperling of Denmark, No. 3, and Kay Stammers of England, No. 6, joined Mrs. Fabian in the fourth round of the women's singles. Mrs. Sperling defeated Miss D. M. Wood of Great Britain, 6-3, 6-1, and Miss Stammers eliminated Miss N. B. Brown, also of Great Britain, 6-2, 6-2. Ghaus Mohammed of India, finalist in the recent Queens Club tournament, also entered the quarter-

Play finally was resumed and Puncce beat Russell 6-3, 8-6, 6-1 to enter the quarterfinals.

Riggs and Alice Marble, U. S. champion from San Francisco, moved into the fourth round of the mixed doubles with a 6-0, 6-3 triumph over the English combination of Eric Filly and Mary Whitmarsh.

Swim Meet Rescheduled. DALLAS, Tex., June 30 (AP).—Ralph Stamps, meet director, said yesterday junior and senior men's and women's special events in the annual Southwestern amateur swimming championships would be held July 22 and 23 instead of July 15, as originally scheduled.

Stamps said the events were postponed because there were too many entrants to handle in a one-day show and also because of a conflict with the Ozarks Carnival at Springfield, Mo.

SPORT SALAD

Out Goes Tony. JOE LOUIS on a summer's night. With Two-ton Tony had a fight. The challenger defeating. Instead of "moirdering" the bum The Nightstick was a walking drum. And got an awful beating.

Though Tony said he'd "moirder" him. Consensus went out on a limb. And took a view contrary. And when the very next day to Joe The "experts" said "I told you so." And everything was merry.

Though Tony made a gallant stand. And tried a lethal punch to land. The storm he couldn't weather. For, "somethin'" getting in his eyes. Cramped Tony's style and we surmise. It was a flock of leather.

Ouch! Louis hit Tony so hard it even set Joe Jacobs back on his heels. Joe was so dazed he forgot to say "We been robbed."

Tony says if they had only let him fight his kind of fight he wouldn't have been cut. You can always save your face by losing on a foul, Tony, but you did it the hard and better way.

DATE LITTLE BEAT? WHY? WELL, FIGHT HIM AGAIN IN SEPTEMBER. "Sure, we'll fight him again in September," chirped Joe Jacobs with true managerial valor. You and Tony and who else, Joe?

Tony's cut was $50,000, plus the divers and sundry cuts in his pan requiring 23 stitches. Gene Tunney says that with a longer reach Tony would have won by a knockout. But as Tony isn't built that way nothing can be done about it now.

The Yankees made 13 home runs in a doubleheader against the A's Wednesday, breaking the home run record for a single and two successive games. They seem to miss Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig like a centipede would miss a couple of legs.

Just what can be done about stopping the Yanks and Joe Louis remains for the future to reveal. Of course, Father Time will eventually catch up with Joe, but when it comes to mowing down the Yanks, when he swings his scythe on one, two or three replacements spring up where only one grew before.

On his first appearance in the box at Sportman's Park since joining the Cubs, Ole Dix was a financial success as the magic of his name lured 9035 cash customers through the gates.

However, though an artistic failure, Ole Dix's debut was a financial success as the magic of his name lured 9035 cash customers through the gates.

After all, Joe did win that fight by a knockout. Again he came out of the ring with honors, the same quiet, courteous young Negro. He had nothing except kind words of praise for the fat family man he had just slugged almost into the hospital. There still is no demand for a "white hope."

What this fight proved, if anything, is that Joe Louis is about the greatest offensive fighter who ever drew on a glove. Probably not the greatest fighter, for he does not take a punch well. He is easily dazed, and the old-timers will not admit a pugilist is great unless he can "take it."

All right, Louis doesn't have a granite jaw. When he is hit solidly on the forehead either with a right or a left (as Schmeling and then Galento demonstrated) he seems to go to pieces for a few seconds. His feet do funny things and his face takes on the pained expression of a kid that has just been spanked hard.

But doesn't that very fact make his record of destruction the more remarkable? Despite this obvious

KEANEY REACHES CLAYTON TENNIS MEET SEMIFINAL

Frank Keane, defending champion, advanced to the semifinal round of the Clayton Invitation tennis tournament by defeating Edmond Serrano, 6-3, 6-1, yesterday afternoon. The champions' speed and net play proved too much for the veteran Serrano.

Wayne Smith and Teddy Eggmann joined Keane in the semifinals yesterday. Smith defeated George Prelutsky, 6-2, 7-5, while Eggmann gained a default when Ray Wiese was unable to play due to an ankle injury. The other quarterfinal match between Karl Hodge and W. K. Oliver was postponed until this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The semifinals will be played tomorrow and the finals on Sunday. Only two doubles matches were decided yesterday. Howard Stephens Jr. and William Bascom defeated Allan Carvell and Sterling Lord Jr. 6-3, 6-0, in one, while Keane and Ward Parker won from Karl Kammann and Charles McMillin, 6-3, 6-3, in the other.

Smith and Eggmann will meet Keane and Parker in a semifinal doubles contest at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

White Sox Buy Infielder. CHICAGO, June 30 (AP).—The Chicago White Sox announced last night the purchase of Third Baseman Robert Kennedy from Shreveport of the Texas League. He will report next spring.

manager of Lou Nova, wants to get at Joe quick. When they see Louis get smacked they forget instantly that he also can hand it out. Jimmy Johnston, manager of Bob Pastor, has been yelling fit to bust now for 26 hours. His Bob lasted 10 rounds with Joe back before the Negro won the title, and Jimmy is convinced now that Pastor can knock him out in another meeting.

There's a good possibility of such a match in Detroit in September, the same month Nova and Galento tentatively are billed in Philadelphia.

Nova, if he can't get at Louis now, is perfectly content to fight another "preliminary" against Galento. He realizes, he says, that he and Louis will draw a much bigger gate if they put it off until next summer.

"It might take me longer to knock Tony out than it did Louis," he conceded. "It might take me eight rounds to do it. But he won't ever have me on the floor like he did Louis. Don't try to tell me Galento is as good a fighter as Max Baer was when I whipped him a month ago."

I'm positive he was a little scared after Tony surprised him with that first wild clout to the cheekbone the other night. Still, Louis had the ability and the courage to fight his way out of that and to hide his time until the chance came to tear Galento apart. He displayed some fortitude that might have been overlooked in the excitement over Tony's great stand.

After seeing the champion knocked down by Galento, the managers of other heavyweight contenders are falling all over themselves in the rush to get at Louis. Even Ray Carlen, the cautious handicap the bronze boy fought his way to the championship, since he has defeated seven challengers, six of them by knockouts. He has been knocked down but has come back to blast his men down. He deserves credit.

NEW YORK, June 30 (AP).—Now that the Paens have been sung for Gallant Tony Galento and he has been substantially rewarded by Promoter Mike Jacobs with a check for $50,026.3 and the promise of a fight with Lou Nova in September, there must be room left for a few words about Joe Louis.

After all, Joe did win that fight by a knockout. Again he came out of the ring with honors, the same quiet, courteous young Negro. He had nothing except kind words of praise for the fat family man he had just slugged almost into the hospital. There still is no demand for a "white hope."

Jimmy Johnston Raves. JIMMY JOHNSTON evidently is trying to move Pastor into the front row of petitioners for the next title fight by decrying Louis. After the fight he was unable to get up any heat over the champion's victory.

"Louis made a poor showing for a champion," he explains. "He didn't behave at all like a champion. He allowed Galento to force the fighting; he backed away at times, and once he actually ran away."

"A real champion would dominate the fight and take the play away from his opponent." Jimmy evidently forgets the fight between Pastor and Louis, when Pastor reversed the situation. Louis chased him all over the ring, but couldn't catch up with the runaway foe.

However, it's only fair to say that Pastor was acting under orders in doing that. But there's nothing in Bob's subsequent record to justify belief that he will get anywhere by standing toe to toe with Louis and exchanging punches, or by trying to carry the fight to Joe.

If he tries that he might as well do a Steve Brodie off the Brooklyn Bridge. Today there seems no fighter on the horizon who can carry the fight to Louis and expect anything but defeat. They merely play into his hands by such tactics.

TWO-HOUR START LET LOUISIANA U. HEAD GET AWAY

Police Director at Governor's Mansion When He Resigned but Didn't Get Arrest Order Until Later.

BATON ROUGE, La., June 30 (AP).—An assertion by former Gov. Richard W. Leche that irregularities were suspected at Louisiana State University several months ago focused attention today on statements by officials involved in an order to arrest Dr. James Monroe Smith two hours after he resigned as president of the institution.

Leche described the university auditing system as "antiquated and full of holes" and declared "anybody could pocket money that wanted to."

At his Covington home, where he retired after leaving office Monday night—24 hours after Smith gave him his resignation—Leche told the Associated Press the educator was not arrested at the time he quit because "there was not evidence for such drastic action at that time" and "we couldn't hold the man unless we were positive we had something."

Over the story of Leche's statement the New Orleans Times-Picayune this morning repeated a headline which it has carried for several days: "A still pertinent question. Could zealous law enforcement have prevented the disappearance of Dr. James Monroe Smith?" Officials present when he quit, Leche said that Attorney-General David M. Ellison, State Collector of Revenue W. A. Cooper and Supreme Court Justice John Fournet were visiting him when Smith walked in and resigned about "6:30 or 7 p. m." and then left. State Superintendent of Police Louis F. Guerre said later he, too, had arrived at the Governor's mansion about 6:30 p. m.

Guerre said Ellison at 8:30 ordered him to arrest Smith. When Guerre went to Smith's home, he said, he found the retired president had disappeared with Mrs. Smith. Asked what evidence was gathered between 6:30 and 8:30 o'clock to warrant the arrest of Smith, Leche said "Ellison and Cooper can answer that. They were handling the investigation."

Ellison, asked why there was a lapse of two hours between the time of Smith's resignation and the order for his arrest, told a reporter: "You will have to check with Gen. Guerre. He can tell you all about the matter."

Check of Accounts Ordered. The university board of supervisors, which met late yesterday to check on its minutes and records, adjourned without comment although Gov. Earl K. Long announced appointment of Col. Troy Middleton, dean of administration, as acting vice-president and controller with authority to hire an auditing firm to check on the school's accounts.

Officers here, convinced Smith and his wife had bought a new automobile in Detroit and entered Canada, examined his home and found a note indicating he had $50,000 insurance.

Dr. Paul M. Hebert, law dean named acting president of the university, in a radio broadcast last night, asserted the school was undergoing reorganization and emphasized that extreme caution was being used in an investigation of its tangled affairs so no injustice would be done anyone.

Tax Returns Under Inquiry. Attorney-General Frank Murphy announced in Washington Smith's income tax record was under examination.

Gov. Long said Smith attempted to draw his July salary check of

Long said Smith obtained $2000 of personal savings from Jackson, for market speculation, and had attempted to obtain other money from his faculty and staff associates.

LINCOLN U. LAW SCHOOL TO BE READY BY SEPTEMBER

New Courses Authorized By Curators; School Has Special Appropriation.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 30

(AP).—President Sherman D. Scruggs said yesterday a law school would be created at Lincoln University here in time for next September's school term.

Establishment of the law school, first step in a program to bring the Negro University to an educational parity with the University of Missouri at Columbia, was authorized at a meeting of the school's new board of curators.

The action followed a United States Supreme Court opinion that the State must admit Negroes to the State university unless they could be assured equal educational opportunities elsewhere in the State. That opinion, handed down in the Lloyd L. Gaines case, resulted in a special $200,000 appropriation to the Negro University by the Legislature this year.

House Votes Tentative Retain Provision, Leaders Seek to R Action.

REPUBLICANS SAVE IT FROM DE

Many Democrats When Vote Is Taken Many Other A ments Defeated.

WASHINGTON, June 30 Surprised by a tentative decision to continue an embargo against warring nations administration leaders strove to rescind the action and original neutrality bill.

The embargo, provision of compromise by its supporters put into the measure the near end of a 13-hour session by the slim margin of 158-149.

The bill's managers felt that it would tie the hands in event of a foreign emergency. They asked that the provision be repealed if not pressed with President Roosevelt's issue—center of the whole fight—will be taken by the final roll call on the bill.

There was no roll call at night's vote. Republican favor continuation of present embargo, in opposition to a roll call vote. Just as it appeared proposal to keep the embargo defeated, a half dozen Republicans popped through a room door and were caught by the amendment's supporters.

Democratic Leader "Amos" Democratic Leader Rayburn, who he was "deeply aggrieved and utterly amazed" at the vote, dictated the embargo would be lifted when the amendment was adopted.

Representative Vorys, Ohio, a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee, was the one who introduced the amendment. He was much the same as law's bar against shipping munitions and an implicit "war" to belligerents when neutrality law is invoked.

Vorys explained, however, his amendment omitted the word "war" which he felt to which Representative (Rep.) New York added that oil, trucks and airplanes thereby excepted and the confined to "lethal weapons."

Up to that point the amendment had things pretty much their own way. They were down handily—195 to 69—empt by Representative (Dem.) Pennsylvania, and single member, to repeal present neutrality law.

Then they accepted and through on a vote, a motion permitting Congress as the President to declare state of war exists between countries. Such a provision would give the President authority which only the Congress now possesses.

The only other important in the bill was agreed to by leaders early this week. It sought to forestall opposition by removing from the measure a provision for the President to suspend American ships from commerce.

Of all the 30-odd proposals defeated yesterday, took the most time. Rank parties were divided. Taking leaders unaware said "it was like a volcano" asked the House to "throw the country back on international affairs."

Among his supporters, Representative Wadsworth (Rep.) New York, defined international as "the effort of human down through decade after to restrict the horrors of protecting the rights of nations." Representative (Rep.) Fish, ranking Republican foreign Affairs Committee, Allen's amendment potential greatest blow at peace been offered since the World War. He said international law been repeatedly repudiated was disregarded "time after by Great Britain during the War."

EASIER TREATMENT FOR DIABETES FOUND

Three Pharmacologists Report Experimental Success in Giving Insulin With Quinine.

PALO ALTO, Cal., June 30 (AP).—Potential ways of smoothing out the path of treatment for diabetes and of combating trichinosis, the pork worm disease, with a drug were announced today to the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Three Stanford University pharmacologists, Dr. John Handlik, Dr. W. C. Cutting and Dr. G. B. Robb, reported the formulation of a principle which might lead to the administration of insulin through the mouth instead of by injection in the veins.

They reported experimental success by mixing insulin with quinine to insure its passing through the digestive system to the blood stream without being destroyed en route by gastric juices.

However, they emphasized that quinine was not a desirable carrier in all cases because of the potentially adverse effects it might have on some persons, such as humming in the ears, loss of appetite or even effects on the heart.

Treatment through the mouth is considered desirable because it would do away with the necessity of repeatedly puncturing the skin with a hypodermic needle to give regular treatments over an extended period.

Still Looking for Another Drug. The pharmacologists said they would continue their search for a suitable carrier drug.

Three other Stanfordites, Dr. James E. McNaught, Dr. Rodney R. Beard and Dr. Floyd DeEds, reported porkworm infested rats which received phenothiazine in their diet developed 74 per cent fewer worm larvae than infected rats on a drugless diet. Phenothiazine is a relative of sulfaanilamide.

Dr. McNaught previously conducted experiments indicating alcohol in appreciable quantities along with pork-worm-infested food tended to prevent the microscopic creature from gaining a foothold in the muscles where it usually lodges and causes severe pain and temporary disability.

The alcohol was supposed to have impaired digestion so that much of the infected food passed through the body as waste and did not reach the muscles as food for human cells.

A series of experiments reported by three University of California hospital physicians indicated the blood courses more slowly through the veins of persons with heart trouble than those with normal cardiac machinery.

Test for Heart Trouble.

Into the veins of four groups of persons they injected a solution which would produce a bitter taste on reaching the taste buds on the tongue. It took somewhat longer for those with heart trouble to experience the bitter taste.

By causing one group of heart-affected patients and a group of normal persons to exercise briefly they found the difference in the circulation time before and after exercise in the diseased group was similar to that for the normal persons. They concluded that the difference in circulation time before and after exercise was no test for heart trouble.

Dr. E. F. Cannon, Dr. S. P. Lucia and Dr. E. H. Benson performed the experiments.

Dr. David M. Greenberg of the University of California reported evidence indicating persons under the vitamin D treatment for rickets might be subject to attacks of tetany, a sometimes fatal spasm, if substance cause too rapid a transfer of calcium from the blood to the bones, upsetting the mineral balance of the vital fluid.

SCIENTISTS WILL TRY TO FINISH DARWIN'S JOB

Chicago Museum Expedition Starts for South America to Collect Specimens.

CHICAGO, June 30 (AP).—A group of scientists from the Field Museum of Natural History set out today for the land where the theory of evolution was born. South of Patagonia they hope to finish the work begun by the great English naturalist, Charles Darwin, more than 100 years ago.

Dr. Wilfred H. Osgood, the museum's chief curator of zoology, announced the expedition intended to bring back a collection of mammals, birds, reptiles and fishes which would complete the fragmentary knowledge of the fauna of the southern half of South America.

The first specimens ever gathered in this region went into Darwin's kit during the famous scientific cruise of His Majesty's Ship, Beagle, which reached the Straits of Magellan in 1834. Naturalists trace Darwin's monumental work to his evolution to his studies of Tierra Del Fuego and other islands of the district.

Gaps in Scientific Knowledge. "This region has not been scientifically explored by zoologists since that time," Dr. Osgood said. "Although Darwin made excellent collections of the fauna, which are still preserved in the British Museum, there are many gaps remaining to be filled in."

"On the Field Museum expedition it is expected that data will be obtained which will make possible the completion and revision of present knowledge based on the Darwin collections. It may confidently be expected further that we shall obtain examples of many species of animals still unknown or hitherto unrepresented in any collection."

The known animals of the region are queer enough. There is the steamer duck, a flightless, salt water bird as big as a goose, and the guanaco, or wild llama, second cousins to the camel. There is also the coypu, sometimes called the South American beaver, the female of which has an adaptation for life in the water which Dr. Osgood said was unique among mammals.

The milk glands and nipples are not on the chest but on the back near the middle line, making it possible for the young to nurse while the mother is afloat.

Collecting to Begin in Peru. Dr. Osgood said he and his colleagues also would look into the territory that South America once was connected with Australia.

The expedition is sponsored by Stanley Field, president of the museum. The vanguard of scientists will sail from New York July 7 aboard the Santa Rita, bound for Lima, Peru. They will cross South America by rail to Arequipa and Lake Titicaca, where collecting will begin. Crossing the lake by steamer, they will enter Bolivia, and later push through Chile to the tip of the continent, where the most important research will be done.

Came to U. S. at Age of 4 and Was 90 Years Old—Funeral Monday.

When he observed his ninetieth birthday last March, Mr. Hassendeubel told friends he attributed his longevity to the fact that he had always worked, slept and smoked regularly. He smoked 10 cigars daily.

Surviving are two sons, Ernst and Carl Hassendeubel, both associated with him in the grocery company and three daughters, Mrs. A. H. Kanzler of Belleville, and Mrs. Ella Scheumann and Mrs. Hilda Vierheiler of St. Louis. The funeral will be held Monday at 2 p. m. at the Hoffmeister undertaking establishment, 6464 Chipewa street. Burial will be in Valhalla Cemetery.

'MIKADO' AT LOEW'S IS DE LUXE EDITION

Traditional Style of Operetta Followed in Color Film Now on Screen.

BRITISH film production of Gilbert's and Sullivan's "The Mikado," made in full color and with some of the best Gilbert and Sullivan singers in the world, came yesterday to Loew's Theater and proved to be a superb reproduction of the original work.

In fact, this "Mikado" is hardly more than a photographed edition from the stage and for that reason ought to be fully satisfactory to the Gilbert and Sullivan following. A few omissions have been made, but no violence has been done and there is no material in the show that does not come from the original.

Martyn Green, who plays Ko-Ko, and Sydney Granville, the Pooh-Bah, are both from the celebrated O'Flynn Carte Opera Company of London: John Barclay, the Mikado, was formerly in the Winthrop Ames Gilbert and Sullivan revivals and at the National Opera in the 1933 season. Kennerly Baily, the American crier, makes a fine Nanki-Poo as any within memory. Jean Colin, Constance Willis and Gregory Stroud are capable British singers, unknown in this country, who meet every requirement of other principal roles.

The chorus of the O'Flynn Carte Company, which has been highly successful in New York in several recent seasons, but has not toured west of Chicago, makes up the chorus for the screen production, the London Symphony furnishes musical accompaniment.

Costumes and settings, the outstandingly iridescent array of all Technicolor history on the screen, are by Michael Vertes. No attempt is made at realism and "The Mikado" shows its painted skies and wig-lens on the characters' foreheads, even the stage operetta do. But it is a beautiful production, the very essence of Savoy and art and its vocal wealth is truly astonishing.

Although most of the patrons of "The Mikado" probably will not think so, Loew's has another equally entertaining film on the same program, "Maise," in which Ann Sothern plays a role that once was meant for the late Jean Harlow, an extraordinarily likeable comedy.

Ever since Miss Sothern, a former glamor girl, played dumb and took "Trade Winds" away from its stars, Fredric March and Joan Bennett, better assignments have seemed to be in prospect for her. The comedy entertainer who falls in love with a Wyoming rancher and makes him like her, she gets a real chance to show her ability. It is a character part which is kept firmly under control by Miss Sothern and ranks among the best acting jobs of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. John Joseph Powers have returned from their honeymoon cruise to South America and the West Indies. They have taken an apartment at the Embassy. Before her marriage, May 27, Mrs. Powers was Miss Helen Hunter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Lee Hunter, 7343 Westmoreland drive. Mr. Powers is the son of Mrs. Edward J. Powers, 4905 Lindell boulevard.

Miss Paula Wilhelm, daughter of Mrs. Emilie Wilhelm, 7369 Pershing avenue, has been spending a few days in New York before sailing tomorrow on the Champlain for Europe. She will spend two months in France and Switzerland.

Mrs. John W. Watson, 23 West Brentmoor park, her daughter, Miss Dorothy, and her son, Frank Graham Watson, left today by motor for San Francisco, where they will remain until the middle of September. They will take trips in California. Mr. Watson and another son, Harold, will join them later next month.

RETREAT OF BOND PRICES CONTINUES

Market Shies Away From Dollar Loans Pending Danzig Developments.

NEW YORK, June 30 (AP).—Bond prices continued to retreat today. Bond-sellers had lost fractions to 2 or more points in the final hour of trading. The general market pattern with declines ranging from 1/8 to 3/4 point were registered on June 30. The market shied away from foreign dollar loans pending further decisive steps affecting Danzig. Hard hit in the corporate division were bonds of Southern Railway, Pennsylvania, Union Pacific, Commonwealth Edison, Illinois Central, International Telephone and Telegraph. Among a smattering of small gainers were Portland Cement, General Electric and Consolidated Oil convertible 3 1/2%. Enough support drifted into the market in the last hour to pare worst marks and even carry a few issues over to the plus side. Among these small gainers were Bethlehem Steel 3 1/2% at 50 1/2, Pullman at 6 1/2, and International Hydro Electric at 52. Local transactions dropped sharply following formal signing of contracts by Brooklyn Manhattan Transit for sale of the system to the city.

RESERVE BANKS' HOLDINGS OF U. S. ISSUES SMALLER

Technical Conditions in Money Market Cited With Cautious Drop of 1/8-1/4, 000,000 in Week.

WASHINGTON, June 30 (AP).—The Federal Reserve Board announced that the 12 Federal Reserve banks had reduced their holdings of Federal securities by $13,000,000 because of technical conditions in the money markets. Although the reduction, which brought the banks' investments in Government securities to $2,551,000,000 was the first in years, a formal board statement said, "This action is in response to technical conditions in the bill market and does not represent a change in general credit policy."

Flaxseed, DULUTH, June 30.—Flaxseed closed 1 1/2 higher, July, $1.62, nominal; cash, $1.64 1/2. No. 1 Northwestern at Chicago unchanged at $1.71 1/2.

WEEK'S AUTO OUTPUT

DETROIT, June 30 (AP).—Ward's reports said today that automobile production has started on its seasonal downturn, in preparation for the end of the current model year. Output for the present week was placed at 70,633 units, against 81,070 last week and 43,945 this week a year ago.

Case Records of a PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane
Of Northwestern University

CASE M-153: Susan S., age 17, is a brilliant student. "But we are getting worried about Susan," her father admitted during our interview. "She has always made excellent grades in school, being a straight 'A' student. She is also a fairly attractive girl. But she has never had many friends. During the last few months she has become almost a recluse, however. Now she avoids even her one or two girl friends, and lately she has been hiding away with her books or music.

"She also has a dreamy look most of the time, and told her mother that things don't seem real to her any more. She appears to be in a strange world, as if she were a visitor from Mars. This isn't because she has a puppy-love affair, Dr. Crane, nor does it seem to be a transitory phenomenon. I am becoming seriously worried. What is the matter with Susan, and what can we do to correct the trouble?"

DIAGNOSIS: It is a common complaint for girls and boys in the late teens to feel that they are in a dream world, unreal and artificial. But this feeling of unreality is often cited by older patients who reach the menopause. It usually indicates the same basic condition, whether it appears in a girl of 17 or one of 37. Such a sense of unreality is a subconscious device by which we try to flee from a reality that is unpleasant to us. It belongs, therefore, in the same category as those other escape devices, such as alcohol, narcotics, suicide, vagabondage or the "hobo" complex.

Children who have no brothers and sisters, or who feel ostracized because they don't have the physical charm or social habits that make them popular, are likely to live in an imaginative world. They may become extreme introverts, dwelling in the realm of books and music. If before kindergarten age they have peopled the world with imaginary playmates in lieu of real ones, they already have a set of habits which enable them to slip away easily into a dream world.

This tendency can become so serious that at last they flee so completely into a dream world as to be oblivious of their relatives and friends, their appetites and social activities. It is always wise to check this trend as soon as possible.

THE MOST frequent type of insanity, called schizophrenia, develops in just this fashion. Its victims, usually intelligent adolescents, begin to leave this world via dreams. In order to prevent this flight, we must make the world appear so pleasant and enticing that they do not want to leave it. We must tactfully extort their attention and give them enough pleasure objects or possessions, and enough love attachments so they prefer to live in their environment instead of in their dreams.

If these children have brothers and sisters, or go to a nursery school and develop friendships, they are better stabilized emotionally. If they have playthings like tricycles and wagons, or living pets, as a puppy or kitten, the latter hold their interest and attention, making psychological flight that much more difficult.

If they have been taught social habits so they can mingle happily with playmates, and play the accepted social games, they look with pleasure on their environment, and hence will not care to flee from it. But don't let this illusion of unreality go untreated.

Job's Faith By Elsie Robinson

THE mounting hate and horror in this war-sick world . . . the fear that touches even the bravest heart . . . the shambling depravity and stupidity that defy all civilizing forces—why must these things be? The lovely world, so filled with beauty and abundance—why must it become a madhouse? Your own heart, so fitted for love and joy and fine adventure—why must it be desolated with savage shock and pain? You've dreamed—you've fought and prayed. Was none of it worth while? Is there nothing out there in that moldering darkness . . . no just plan or purpose . . . no one who knows or cares?

Why must these things be? That cry is as old as man. Do you remember the story of Job, that good man whom God loved and yet delivered to Satan to be tested? For Satan, seeing God's joy in Job's faith had said, "Yes, he believes in You, this pious man, and well he may, for have you not blessed him above others, with wealth and love and joy? . . . But put forth Thine hand now and touch all that he hath, and he will curse Thee to Thy face!" So God put Job in Satan's power for the trial . . . and the story of that trial has come down to us in the noblest language ever penned.

It is startling to read that great, grim poem, written before history began, in a world so remote that we can hardly imagine its places or people and to hear, from out that darkness, the very words we cry today . . . to see a man battling as we are battling now, against the mystery without and the darkness and doubt within. Your cry and Job's, rising, mingling in one common wail over a million midnight! For the story of Job is not the story of one man, but of all men . . . and the struggle of Job is the struggle of every human heart to rise above its own despair.

WHY? JOB ASKED that, too, as—bit by bit—his life was stripped of all that made it dear or desirable. His children dead . . . his lands captured . . . his treasure scattered! Blow by blow the strokes fell—until at last he lay naked and deserted, covered with boils, on ashes that were not more bitter than his own desolation . . . and there was no device in hell that Satan had not tried, to break his faith. Now, surely, Job would give way . . . forget the God who seemed to have forgotten him.

But Job did not give way. Desolate he might be, but from his broken lips there rose an immortal tribute to the Father he could no longer see or hear, but in Whom he still believed:

"Oh, that I knew where I might find Him . . . that I might come to Him. Behold, I go forward, but He is not there; and backward, but I cannot perceive Him.

"On the left hand, where He doth work, but I cannot behold Him: He hideth Himself on the right hand, but I cannot see Him; But He knoweth the way that I take: when He hath tried me, I shall come forth as gold."

"I CANNOT see Him . . . but He knoweth the way I take!" There was Job's answer to the darkness he could not pierce . . . the silence he could not understand. And with that answer, Job went free. As every man goes free who dares to make it.

For the man who has faith within him has more than an answer. He has a force . . . the only force that stands against all fear and pain. He does not know—or need to know—the reasons why. He could not understand if he were told. But there is One Who knows—Who holds all mysteries in the hollow of His hand. He knows the way we go . . . our faith in His own voice within our hearts . . . His answer in the darkness of the night. Believe—go on!

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 30. THE finish of "The Women" will mean good news to our travel bureau. Norma Shearer will be Europe-bound with the Charles Cukor may do a picture in England. Imagine the luck of seeing him for Merle Oberon's next. He likes the idea of doing one over there. The backgrounds add zest and you get all new faces. Virginia Weidler, Norma's daughter in the picture, does "Yank at Eton" with Mickey Rooney in England.

When they write Cinderella stories of Hollywood, they forget Norma's was the greatest of all. There's nothing like good, hard work to keep a woman young. Norma's younger now than when I first met her. I won't tell how many years ago that was. But I will tell you one of her beauty secrets. Once a day she goes over her face with a piece of ice wrapped in cheesecloth. When not working, she dunks her face twice a day in a basin full of cold water. Her skin is so fine that she uses no makeup on the screen, only powder.

I congratulated her on the way she put on her lashes. Then she showed me how to do it, and said: "The first false eyelashes I ever saw were worn by Irene Rich. It impressed me mightily the way she could turn on those big tears at will without hurting her lashes."

Joan Crawford's wearing a gold sequins gown which weighs 80 pounds. She's lost so much weight that her luncheon the other day consisted of four eggs, chicken livers and two rolls polished off with ice cream. And she drinks two quarts of buttermilk a day. The dress took three weeks to make, the sequins being crocheted on by hand. Joan Fontaine eats her luncheon lying down, hoping she'll put on weight too. No luck, so far.

The way Adrian has dressed "The Women" according to character is nothing short of sensational. And Guiltard off their hair the same way. Roz Russell wore a black pleated net with a flight of black birds. An onlooker chirped: "For the part you're playing Roz, one buzzard would have been better."

I asked Joan Crawford if there was any truth to the report she and Charlie Martin were feuding. "Well, we weren't 10 minutes ago," she said.

Norma kept looking at a 60-carat sapphire ring she was wearing. I said: "I'll bet it will be yours before the end of the picture." She replied: "Well, I'm sure they sent their best just to tempt me. The studio must have gotten tired of looking at my junk."

"Junk," said Roz. "Gee whiz!"

Mae Beatty took me of her most embarrassing incident. Her teeth popped out in the midst of a very long dramatic sequence. And it took the company half an hour to calm down. On the report card was written: Half hour delay due to Chinaware!

Gloria Vanderbilt and her 15-year-old daughter Gloria visited the set. Little Gloria, who's a beauty, wants to be an actress. Mercy, won't Mrs. Whitney die when she hears that? I have a feeling her mother regrets not taking the picture job offered her some years ago. I'm wondering, too, if Brenda Frazier won't regret the day she turned down $100,000 too?

As Roz Russell says: "In Hollywood you're safer than in other places. Why? When you work you're too tired and busy to get into mischief. I haven't been out for five weeks. Don't get to bed 'til 12, up at 6. Now you just tell me what kind of trouble you can get into during those hours!"

East's Mistake On First Trick Proves Costly

Could Not Resist Lure of Winning With His Singleton King.

By Ely Culbertson

YESTERDAY I reported what happened to a mere man who wandered into his wife's regular afternoon game. This incident was taken from a story by R. H. E. Eney, writing in the Bridge World Magazine. His hero learned another lesson on the next deal—

West North East South
Pass 1 club 1 diam'd Pass
1 no trmp Double 2 spades Pass
4 spades Double Redouble Pass Pass Pass

South opened the six of clubs, which declarer won in his own hand. East ruffed the last named. Now, still hoping against hope that North would put him in dummy for a diamond finesse, declarer led another trump, but when North won she persisted with hearts, airily disregarding the fact that another heart ruff would establish the jack in dummy.

Declarer could not refuse to ruff this trick, unless he were willing to concede defeat on the spot, hence ruffed with his last trump and now found himself still in his own hand. There was only one ray of hope and that was that the diamond king would drop. The play of the ace, however, failed to produce anything more interesting than low cards from the opponents, and now declarer's own hand was dead as a door nail. The opponents finally came out, not only with a diamond trick, but with a club-trick as well, since dummy's five of clubs could not be salvaged.

This time Mr. East was highly mortified. "Sorry, partner," he managed to say. "I might have held it to one down by conceding the queen of diamonds before leading the ace."

"Yes, and you might have made the contract by playing the ace of clubs at the first trick and finessing against the diamond king," said his partner's exasperated comment.

Obviously, the lady was correct. East had thrown away his redoubled contract at the very first trick. It was vital to finesse against the diamond king and, although on the surface dummy appeared to have plenty of entries in the spade suit, these would not materialize if North played properly. Note that it would have done declarer no good to win with the club king and lead a low spade to the ten spot. North would win and, as before, return two rounds of hearts. After ruffing declarer could do one of two things. He could lead the spade jack, in which case North would hold off, or he could lead another spade to the queen. If he chose the latter course, North would win and again lead a heart and declarer would be back in his own hand.

Obviously, declarer would have been much better off if fate had dealt him the singleton deuce of clubs instead of the singleton king. For all practical purposes they were equal, but the king was a lure that declarer could not resist. Had he taken the proper view of matters, and put off dummy's club ace as the first trick, then taken the diamond finesse, the contract would have become a laydown. As it was, he merely exposed himself to some high class feminine gloating.

Dear Mrs. Post: LAST week I got my ring. I was waiting for it. I had expected. We can not be married first of next year and I've had my parents wait to announce the engagement papers. Does this mean could not wear my ring to make the announcement?

Dear Mrs. Carr:

AM a girl 14 years. I am going to visit a small town in Tennessee to spend three or four weeks. Would you tell me what clothes to take? There is not much entertaining there except in an informal way and so party dresses are not much needed. How much should a girl weigh who is 14 years old and 5 feet in height?

V. A. S.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest, but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an address and stamped envelope for personal reply.

Take just the clothes you would wear here; pretty shirtwaist frocks of light-weight material, slacks, if you think your friends will go on a country outing, and wear this type; printed sheers, and prints to be cool and fresh in for the afternoon and evening, at least one party frock (as they do like parties in the South) of marquisette or chiffon or organdie, a light-weight coat in light color or white, and the most summerish accessories. You should weigh anywhere from 105 to 115.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

I SHOULD LIKE to go into a certain line of work this summer during vacation, and I am wondering if you printed my letter in your widely known column, it would help reach the people who might be interested. I am a sophomore in high school here in St. Louis, and I shall be 15 the end of this month. I am, and have always been, a devoted lover of children. Ever since I can remember, I have been watching the baby for the "lady next door" in each community to which we might move.

My want is this: I should like to offer my help to mothers who wish to be free for the day (from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.) from their babies. I think it would be wise to charge a fee, but which would be small in comparison to the services rendered.

GINGER.

Undoubtedly there is need for individual services of this kind and many mothers would prefer it to the regular Day Nursery or (if they know you well) to the employment of outside help they are not sure of. Why not make inquiries in your neighborhood, where people know you best? I am sorry, but I cannot help you in a business way, since this would violate a rule of my column.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

WOULD YOU PLEASE tell me the name of the boy who played "Tim" in "Boy Slaves," and if he is going to play in any other picture to be produced soon?

THANK YOU.

Write James M. McCallion, R. K. O., Hollywood, Cal., for the information you desire.

My dear Martha Carr:

WE WENT TO a small show the other night, where "Swing That Cheer" was playing and in the cast was a young boy called "Jay." I would like to know his name and where I could contact him.

JEANETTE.

The young man who portrayed the role of "Jay" was Raymond Parker and you can write him in care of the Universal Studio, Universal City, Cal.

Dear Martha Carr:

A FRIEND OF mine and I had an argument about how many Judge Hardy pictures there have been. Would you please tell us how many there have been and list them?

I believe there have been five Hardy pictures, as follows: Family Affair, Judge Hardy's Children, Love Finds Andy Hardy, Out West with the Hardys and The Hardys Ride High.

Dear Martha Carr:

I HAVE A FINE airedale dog (male) and a Chow and Police dog (female). Also a nice large tom cat. I cannot keep them where I now am and would like to find good homes for them. Anyone interested may call WABash 474M.

MRS. McC.

I have a few more offers of dogs and anyone interested may write me for the names of the people who have these dogs.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

WILL YOU PLEASE give me the address of Gene Autry? What is his age and is he married?

SALLY ANN.

The address is Republic Studio, North Hollywood, Cal. 2—Thirty-two. 3—Yes.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

CAN YOU PLEASE tell me of any home exercises or remedies to gain weight in my legs? I am not slender in my body, in fact have been told that I am well built; but I would like to develop my legs, more especially in the calf.

MISS A. B.

Send self-addressed, stamped envelope, for my folder of exercises.

Engagement Ring -- By Emily Post

Dear Mrs. Post:

LAST week I got my engagement ring. It was quite a set to get. We can not be married until the first of next year and I would rather have my parents wait for awhile to announce the engagement in the papers. Does this mean that I could not wear my ring before they make the announcement?

Answer: Certainly you may wear your ring if you don't mind having your friends know of the engagement as soon as they see the ring. If you don't want them to know just yet then the only way to wear your ring would be to have it pinned out of sight.

Dear Mrs. Post—I had substituted for any absent members of a bridge club for almost a year when one of the regular members moved out of town and then I was invited to join the club and play regularly. I have been doing and enjoying very much. Now the member who moved away is coming back again and I feel that perhaps I should suggest giving up my place to her. Will you please tell me what you think about this?

Answer: I do not see any reason in the world why you should be expected to resign in her favor. That is, when she left town, she evidently resigned from the club. It is true that when a former member puts her name up for re-election, she goes to the top of the waiting list. But she enters the club again with the status of a new member. Her new election date is entered in the club list and she cannot in any case expect to displace the persons who have been appointed to any of the offices she formerly filled.

Dear Mrs. Post: I believe in your book you say that the tables on which the wedding gifts are displayed are laid with white linen damask cloths. Mother doesn't want to give up any of her white linen cloths because she feels she is going to need these more than ever just prior to my wedding. We would like to know, therefore, whether the tables might be covered with white sheets.

Answer: I think the sheets would be most unflattering to the presents and for this reason if I were your mother I would much rather sacrifice my table setting to the becomingness of the presents. Why not a bare table with place mats? On the other hand, neighbors or relatives are usually only too willing to lend best table cloths on which to display a bride's presents.

Dear Mrs. Post: When flowers are sent to a married woman who is a patient at the hospital, are they addressed to Mrs. Mary Patient or Mrs. John Patient?

Answer: Mrs. John Patient by all means.

THE CITY OF ETERNAL SPRING

Temperature at Oaxaca, Mexico, Does Not Vary More Than Six Degrees Above or Below Average of 72 Through the Years—Town Spotlessly Clean.

By William B. Goolsby

This is the third and last of a series of articles on places of unusual interest in Mexico.

IT is unfortunate, but true, that one of the most pleasant places on the North American continent is almost completely unknown to the mass of the nomadic, traveling public in the United States, and is therefore unappreciated by the millions who might easily enjoy its delights.

The busy little city of Oaxaca, Mexico, within easy reach of the capital of the country, probably combines a greater variety of charms and offers more advantages to the visitor than any city accessible to the average resident of the United States. Some of these good attributes are the gift of the Creator; some were unwittingly provided by an unknown Indian tribe who built at Monte Alban, more than 1400 years ago, their remarkable palaces and edifices and left in the tombs the priceless jewels that have only recently been unearthed; and other items of interest in and around Oaxaca that are of more recent time.

Regardless of the claims held out by the boosters of various resort cities, it is doubtful if any other place in the New World can match the climate of Oaxaca. The temperature there seldom varies more than six degrees above or six degrees below a mean average of 72 throughout the years. There is only one season at Oaxaca, spring—eternal spring—with no summer, fall or winter intervening. For eight months of the year the days are a succession of cloudless hours, with the sky an inverted bowl of robin's egg blue. During the remainder of the year there is usually an afternoon shower to more completely connote the fact that it is still springtime.

To "kill the lily" and make the ideal climate even more delightful, the kind hand of the Creator raised a series of hills north of the town to ward off any inclement winds from that direction and then had a river run on each side of it to furnish water for the flowers which grow in profusion and bloom every day in the year.

The town is not Mexican, nor Spanish, and it cannot be called a counterpart of Granada with its Moorish atmosphere, but there is in Oaxaca some of all these influences in a pleasing admixture. The majority of the business houses are set back from the streets and between them and the pavement is a wide promenade formed by arched porticoes of graceful design. The effect is that of some city in Turkey or Arabia, and it is heightened by the color of the buildings: white clad Indians from the hills, Mexicans in their "charro" suits and womenfolk in the bright hued shawls and brilliant colors so to their liking until their tastes become "Americanized" and toned down somewhat.

Oaxaca, perhaps because of the plentiful supply of water so easily available, is spotlessly clean and offers the additional advantage now of having hotels with good facilities and rates not affected by the influx of tourist dollars. The genuine Latin-American spirit of hospitality as it once existed in the Colonial days in Mexico, still remains here, unimpaired by the grasping spirit of some of those in Mexico who have been spoiled by the flood of easy money from above the Rio Grande.

ONE of the things which has so far saved Oaxaca from contamination by outside influences is that its Elysian delights require at least a bit of planning and a slight effort to enjoy. The automobile highway is paved only as far as Tehuacan, and to reach Oaxaca you either take the train over the picturesque National Railways of Mexico or the stagecoach route to Tehuacan and go by train from this point. The railroad leads through one of the most magnificent scenic stretches in the country and affords a series of rare vistas that must be seen to be fully appreciated. At the village of San Antonio the train enters a rocky region and dashes boldly into canyons whose sides are festooned by semi-tropical vegetation, then plunges into the great narrow gorge formed by the Salado River. Here the air is heavy with the fragrance of tropical flora and made colorful by a myriad of bright, flashing birds of every hue.

The railway, a masterpiece of engineering skill, threads this gash down the earth's surface by hundreds of twists and turns and by utilizing about when they look at the statue they recently accepted for the rotunda of the Capitol—the miniature of Will Rogers?

The other day before the N. Y. Post changed publishers, and George Baker took over the job, a stranger walked into the editorial room breathlessly with a brief case under a wing. He looked furtively to his left, then to his right and frightened some of the staff, who figured him a crank come to blow up the newspaper or something. "Where is the publisher's office?" demanded the stranger. "Well," stammered an assistant editor, a little scared, "just what did you wish, and have you an appointment?" "That's all right, my boy," smiled Oswald Garrison Villard, "I once owned this place."

Yes, the visitors to the Fair have finally come. Not only has business in the Broadway theaters, cafes, hotels and the Fair swelled, but here is added proof. Yes, indeed, the following report was telegraphed: "Good didn't you just love the Trylon and Ferris Wheel?" ejaculated one Sweet Young Thing in a gingham frock. To which her girl friend corrected: "You mean, Trylon and Periscope."

If a certain theatrical union exec wonders why he got such a sour press recently it is because (they say) he once acted hotly-to-ty to the reporters assigned to cover the union regularly. They had been waiting a long time. News-papers men, as one of the greats once said a long time ago, are people who sit by an open window, with flowers in one hand and flower pots in the other. And sooner or later—everybody passes under that window—and it's a lot of fun.

Although the League of Nations is considered passe, its health organization is functioning very well. It dispatched an anti-smaltpox brigade to embattled China and a typhus squad to Spain. In short, the League is more successful in keeping microbes from killing people than it is in keeping people from doing the same thing.

"Injustice to Children All Too Common"

Most of It Caused by Thoughtlessness of Parents, Says Writer.

By Angelo Patri

CHILDREN have a keen sense of justice. They will accept punishment when they know they merited it, brought it on themselves, asked for it, as they would put it. But they rebel at injustice; too often they have something to rebel against, and that at the hands of those who should be first in their defense.

One little girl, faithful to every duty at home, in school, in church, saved pennies out of her allowance of 35 cents a week to buy a game she wanted. It was a perfectly good game, one of the best of its kind and one that nobody could truly disapprove of. Imagine then the child's amazement when her father took the game from her and said it was unfit for her. It was only fit for a baby. As a matter of fact, it was a game that had been a kind of thinking and would take all the power of that sort any high school student had to offer.

Another good father, and I mean good in the sense of being dutiful, was unjust in depriving his daughter of a great pleasure, humiliating her in the eyes of her friends into the bargain. She was graduating and some of her friends, old family friends at that, gave a party in her honor. Her father would not allow her to go. Why? Because she had balked at going to singing class the afternoon before. She had gone under protest, but her father thought she ought to be punished for protesting and that is the way he took.

Another parent, this time a mother, took the heart out of her daughter by breaking a long-time promise. This child had been promised a new dress and permission to play before an audience if she did well in her music. She did so well that she won the medal and a scholarship. But her mother would not let her have the new dress, nor would she allow her to play before the important audience. Why? It might make her too conceited.

Now I ask you what is a child to do with a parent like that? I hope they are few and far between.

Injustice to children is all too common. Most of it is caused by thoughtlessness, want of time, weariness or impatience. That does not help the victims any. One ought to try a little harder to be straight ahead in some of the most romantic profit-seeking ventures in history. This was the nub of an exclusive interview given yesterday by Congressman Frisby to a street car conductor with whom he held a conference.

"In fact," said Mister Frisby, "I have a little proposition right now and I am debating whether or not to let a few of my friends in on it. It's not a stock-selling scheme, and yet I am willing to sell a little stock, but I want to be sure of it. I do not want to be called a hog by widows who are seeking a jimdandy investment. For the last month I have been cogitating that experiment those doctors are working in Philadelphia. They proved that women, pack them in ice, and let them hibernate by refrigeration. The women go into a dreamless sleep and wake up feeling fine. They get a good rest and a chance to cool off, which is my purpose to build luxury cold storage plants for women. We'll let them hibernate. A man can put his wife in cold storage, and we merely charge him for the cracked ice, and the overhead, plus a checking-in fee, and incidentals. Come to think of it, why limit these accommodations to women? If Mr. Roosevelt is elected for a third term, a lot of big business men, I wot, would like to go into cold storage and hibernate until 1944. Otherwise, they're left out in the cold but don't get any sleep."

Perhaps things might run smoother if there weren't so many people who think seriously but act foolishly.

TRIAL WITHOUT JURY

By James Ronald

CHAPTER SIX.

AT HALF past 10 when Ann entered Uncle Simon's room he was still fast asleep. She pulled the sheet away from the foot of the bed and he had pulled it over his head to keep the light out of his eyes. She pulled the sheet away from his face and looked down at him. Ann had no illusions about her uncle. At the age of 10 she had seen him as a glamorous and amusing figure; now, although he was still amusing, the glamor had gone. With the pitiless eyes of youth growing to maturity she saw him for what he was: a fat, rather soiled old man who led a messy life, garbling his failure in a tattered cloak of rakish impudence.

The reason for his visit to Lakelawn, she knew, was that he had been forced to leave New York to dodge his creditors; and Stephen Osborne's home was the only place where he could count on free bed and board for an indefinite period. Years ago, Ann had regarded him with awe because he was an author and that was the one thing in the world that she wanted to be. Now she realized that, although he had some talent, he had never done anything worthwhile with it; never would do anything with it.

When Simon had no money in his pocket and could persuade no one to lend him any; when the tradesmen stood out for ready money and the bartender refused to add more items to the slate; then he would force himself to sit all day and half the night at a desk, scribbling furiously, turning out a cheap thriller for one of the more lurid magazines. At other times he was content to idle his life away in a rowdy, alcoholic semi-coma. No, Ann had no illusions about her uncle. And yet it was one person she loved, apart from her immediate family, was that graceless vagabond, Simon Osborne.

She shook his shoulder vigorously and he rolled over, yawning at the air. He opened one heavy eye, sat up, scratched his head, and yawned. Giving his niece a malevolent look, he protested: "Why can't you leave me alone? I'm tired."

"The morning after the night before," said Ann. "You little wretch, you came in. What do you suppose people think when they see you yawning into our house?"

"Not staggering, I can carry it as well as any man. And—Uncle Simon curled his lip—"I hope I'm sufficiently intelligent not to care a tinker's dam what people think."

"That's all very well for you. But we have to keep up appearances. I don't care what people think either. But father and mother do. Dorothy does. And you're letting them down."

"If the lecture's over, perhaps you'll be good enough to let me sleep."

"You might at least button your pajama coat," said Ann, striking off at a tangent; "after Hannah's gone to the trouble of sewing all the buttons on. You need a woman to take care of you—a woman of fact, who can do things for you without upsetting you."

"In the first place," said Uncle Simon, instantly wary, "you're not a woman of fact. But there's no such thing as a woman of fact."

"I've always wanted to live in New York. Maybe I'd find a job on a newspaper—that's my ambition. Oh, it's a grand idea. I'll come and keep house for you. I can cook. I'll see you get decent food at regular hours; mend your clothes, keep the place tidy."

"No!" No! I like to live in disorder. The place is more livable that way. I don't want to be scrubbed and
